THE MACON TRAGEDY.

EXCITEMENT OVER THE MOORE TRAGEDY SUBSIDING.

More About Mamie Little-Gleanings From the Stor-my Scenes-Miss Annie Barden's Death-Mrs. B. C. Jonea's Funeral-A Strange Acci-dent-News Notes and Personals.

MACON, Ga., August 14.- | Special. 1-The last echoes of the conflict are dying away. People have gone about their wonted tasks and popular feeling having exhausted itseli by a week of terror and excitement is subsiding, and the wheels of the old daily routine have dropped back into their ruts and are moving along smoothly.

The broken lock of the jail will be sent to Chicago to be repaired, but the battered doors will be straightened here in Macon,

The officials look pretty wearied, and the faces of all who entered into a discussion of the matter bear traces of anxiety, and it is still the absorbing topic of conversation.

MAMIE LITTLE'S CHARACTER has undergone a considerable overhauling, and each side still has its champions. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Jack Milton, of East Macon, hearing the name and character of the girl so freely canvassed, took it upon themselves to wisit her at Mr. Laney's home, near Holton. They verified the conviction that she was identical with a little girl whom Mrs. Milton's sister, Mrs. Lewis, at Egypt station, four and a half, Central railroad, brought up, and this corroborates her statement that ahe was left an orphan at an early age. She stayed with the Lewis family until two years ago, when she left and went to stay with a family named Gaffe, in Screven. She stayed there until six months ago, who she went to Savannah and obtained employment at Mrs. Bird's boarding house. A good many railroad men stopped there, and it was there she formed the acquaintance of several.

TWO WEEKS AGO she left Savannah and came up to her old home, Egypt, and, remaining there a day or two, she got a chance to come up to Macon, where she arrived last Saturday evening. The Miltons had with them a photograph of her at seven years old, which was easily identified. She has, according to their statements, been tenibly ill used, as is evidenced by marks and bruises upon her person. They are convinced of her good character.

From the evidence that your correspondent is able to glean, she is probably a simple working girl, and her fault lay in the fact that she trusted herself too far in wandering about unprotected, and thus became the vic-tim of an unscrupulous man. He has been punished, and the great wrong has received its fearful vindication.

The local press has taken a decided stand for the woman, and considerable feeling last teen engendered by the publication of certain severe cen-sures on public men. This morning there apsures on public men. This morning there appeared in the Telegraph the following, incorporated in a leading editorial on this tragedy:

"Cowardly men can be found to retail suspicions and scandais on the sure of the prisoner, a change of venue, and an attempt to belittle his erime inflamed the public mind. A magistrate in the midst of the unusual excitement, so far violated his duy as an officer of the law, and forgot his responsibility as a citizen as to release upon a bond a person charged as an accessory to this capital crime."

The magistrate referred to is Judge Matt R. Freeman, a justice of the peace for Macon, and one of the most highly honored and respected citizens of the town. The "violation of duty" referred to is in his having released Jane Kendrick on bond after a hearing before him under the charge of being an accessory to Judge Freeman publishes a ringing card in today's Evening News, in which he says: As much as I dislike newspaper notoriety, self-respect would not allow me to remain filent under the malicious and infamous attack upon me in this morning's Telegraph, and as I am not an aspirant for political preference, never have been, consequently was never defeated, I cannot be accused of having any special spleen to vent in a violent denumaiation of the entire judiciary of the country, in a manner, in my humble opinion, that is responsible for the digraceful enactment of mob law in our midst. Neither can I expect a fair and impartial criticism in the Telegraph when the head and front of that paper publicly announces that "were he a working man he would lead a mob to hang every magistrate in the city to a lamp post." It is the constitutional right of every defendant charged with the commission of a crime to be admitted to ball by the proper authorities, and magistrates have no discretion or authority to refuse ball except in cases that are punishable with death—murder, rape and arson—these are the only exceptions. In this particular case, when bail was demanded, I consulted one of our leading attorneys and investigated the facts upon which this workers. As much as I dislike newspaper notoriety, self case, when ball was demanded, I consulted one of our leading attorneys and investigated the facts upon which this woman, Jane Kendrick, was arrested. Colonei Wiley who made the affidavit, stated that the only evidence he had against her and upon which he swore out the warrant, was the fact that she failed to report to the policemen, when at her house, that Miss Little was there or in the hands of Moore. It was also shown, and admitted by Colonel Wiley and Mr. Hardeman that they did not have any evidence to convict Jane Kendrick of the crime charged, (the admission of Mr. Hardeman was made while the bond was out being executed)

* Because I do not feel disposed to consult the Telegraph or its dictatorial head as to my official acts, I must be charged with "violating my duty as an officer of the law, and forgetting my responsibility as a citizen," all of which I demounce as infamously and maliciously false.

Asto Mr. Hardeman's opinion, he no doubt was honest in giving it, notwithstanding the fact that other attorneys of longer experience than he, differ with him, and he is entitled to his opinion, although fill advised in this case, it gave to the Telegraph some shadow of authority for venting private spleen, something this paper is noted for. If the judge of the superior court does not, with all the authority in his power, ventilate the acts and alongs of the last forty-eight hours, I will be mistaken in my opinion of the man. Yours truly,

MATT R. FREEMAN.

[Mr. Hardeman's opinion to which Judge to the policemen, when at her house, that Little was there or in the hands of Moore. I

[Mr. Hardeman's opinion to which Judge Freeman refers was his statement that the latter had no right to allow the women to give

The editorial created a sensation among the lawyers, business men and magistrates, and has been the principal topic of conversation during the play.

Major Hanson's attack, in his speech and the attacks in his paper of the judiciary of the circuit, has also been much commented on. Many of the friends of Judge Simmons are indignant at what is considered to be this censure of his course on the bench.

THE NEGRO WOMEN

Your correspondent is still of the opinion that the officials used every endeavor to protect the prisoner, and Mayor Price, Recorder Patterson, Chief Wiley and Sheriff Wescott, with the men under charge, as well as Jailer Bindsong, are entirely blameless in the matter.

"We will rewis" and Cantain Frank "We will remain," said Captain Frank and Officer Drew, when told by the they might all retire, on the night of the lynching. "You have stood by us, and we will stand by you, just as long as you remain," said those brave officers to their brave chief, and they did so.

No further trouble is anticipated unless it grows out of the ill feeling engendered by the strong expressions of the opposing factions in regard to the matter. MR. LANEY INTERVIEWED. Your correspondent saw Mr. Laney, Mrs. Laney and Miss Little today. Mr. Laney said, in regard to the rumors derogatory to Miss Little's character:

"I believe she is an honest girl, and an ill-used orphan. Mr. I. W. Wallace reached the scene this morning and was welcomed by the presbytery. The music today was grand, Mr. Wallace and Rev. N. Keff Smith, both accomplished singers, leading the great congregation. When the vast audience united in that sweet and soul-inspiring hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee," three hundred voices joined in the glorious song, the same number of hearts making melody and blending in harmony. The scene was grand beyond description.

At the conclusion of the song Dr. Jas. Wood row arose, amid the breathless silence of the multitude, and read a carefully prepared and lengthy address on the Presbyterian doctrin of the Bible. He spoke for an hour and a half, and though at times his voice would sink to a point scarcely audible throughout the building. He was given the closest attention from the beginning to the close of his address. His theme was one of the deepest interest to Dr. Woodrow and of profound concern to Presbyterians. It is, moreover, a subject decidedly in the line of the doctor's study and teaching for more than a quarter of a century in the theological seminary at Columbia. The doctor spoke in great physical weakness, yet he spoke with great clearness, and at times with strong earnestness and with deep fervor. In the outset he stated that owing to weakness and the great pressure of work upon him, he felt much dis-posed to decline the honor sought to be con-ferred upon him, assigning to him a place on the centennial programme; but when he re flected that forty years ago he was ordained to preach the gospel, by the Augusta presbytery, sitting at Greenesboro, not far from the scene of the present centennial exercises it in his heart to refuse.

The address was one of great power, of profound thought and extended study and research. It was a masterly production of s master mind. The address was read from manuscript and will perhaps be published in full. An imperfect synopsis of it could coavey no adequate conception to the minds of your readers of its wide sweep and exhausting exposition of those grand principles of doctrine and government so dear to every Presbyterian. Dr. Woodrow was fortunate in having so large and intelligent an audience to hear this careful and complete exposition to his view. That his views plete exposition to his view. That his views on the origin of man have been largely misconstrued, widely misstated, there can be no doubt. He is set down as opposed to the declaration and the teaching of the Bible as set forth in the standards of the church. His beforth in the standards of the church. Als be-lief touching the hypothesis of evolution is very generally misunderstood. The doctor declared with the most solemn earnest-ness that the Bible is the ness that the Bible is the word of God, laying great stress on the word "is" Not contains the word, but is the word good. He insisted that the only way to interpret scripture, to ascertain the meaning of the Bible. Is by comparing erip-ture with scripture. The Word of God is our interpreter and our interpretation, but I could devote this entire article to the address and yet give but a faint idea of its fullness and

It abounded with fitting illustrations which developed its meaning and lent effectivenes to the whole. Believe me when I say it was a magnificent address—learned, profound, far-reaching, elevated in thought, grand in conception and elegant in diction. But to other

REMINISCENCES.

Immediately following Dr. Woodrow's address came some highly interesting reminisences of those grand old preachers, Drs. Robert M. Cunningham and Francis Cummings, which had been prepared by the venerable Dr. John Jones, of Atlants, and were read by Rev. Robert Adams, of Eatonton. Some excepts from this pleasing document will, perhaps be of interest to THE CONSTITUTION'S contituency, many of whom, I trust, are Presbyterians

Robert M. Cunningham, son of Roger and Mary Cunningham, was born in York county, Pennsylvania, September 10, 1740. When he was in his fifteenth year his father remove his family to North Carolina and purchased a plantation, which he settled and reared his plantation, which he settled and reared his children. Showing an early desire to receive a classical education, he received the training and tuition which was afforded by the schools which were at that time in existence in South Carolina, in 1787. He entered Dickinson's college, Carliale, Pa, and graduated in 1789, when he returned to his parents, and soon joined the first presbytery of South Carolina. He was licensed to preach by the presbytery of South Carolina in 1792, and in the autumn of that year went to Georgia and organized a church in that part of Green county now called Hancock, and ordained elders to a church called Ebenezer. He settled in that neighborhood and opened a school, which he continued for some school, which he continued for some time, preaching alternately at Ebenezer and a church twenty miles distant in the same county, called Bethany. Subsequently he removed to Bethany, where he remained until he left the state, in 1796. He with four until he left the state, in 1796. He with four other ministers were set off from the presbyltery of South Carolina to form a new presbytery constituted the following March and called Hopewell. Rev. Nathan S. S. Beman, D. He says that Dr. Canningham was not in the highest sense a great preacher. He might not be regarded by all as elequent, but his person was commanding, his utterance distinct, his thoughts clear, his earnestness attractive and his goodness of heart manifest to all. Dr. Cummings was a grand old Trojan. He was great, all over, physically, intellectually and morally. His preaching was profound, elequent and powerful. Hon. L. F. Livingston entertained the meeting this evening with an excellent address on "Civil and religious liberty—the outgrowth of Presbyterians."

He made a fine showing for the Presbyterians, claiming that lefferson got his idea of government. He made a fine showing for the Presbyterians, claiming that Jefferson got his idea of government from the teachings of a Presbyterian preacher. He made an eloquent reference to the league and covenant of Scotland, a fac simile copy of which hangs just back of the pulpit. Many of the signatures of this remarkable instrument were written with the blood of the signers. Colonel Livingston's address abounded with bright sayings, which kept the audience in excellent humor, notwithstanding the oppressive heat.

One of his stories is too good to lose. He said that once Tom Marshall was counsel in a case involving the fraudulent payment of money. The jury was selected in Marshall's absence.

THE DOG POUND BURNING. A Lively Little Blaze in Dawson-Finally

DAWSON, Ga., August 14.—[Special.]—About one o'clock Thursday night a fire alarm was given, and it was found that a small building on the northeast corner of the public square, used by the city authorities as a "dog pound," was on fire. The flames soon envelope building, and were communicated to anothe which stands within fifteen feet, and used by Cobb & Palmerss a market house and shoes! Cobb & Palmers a market house and shoe shop. By this time the fire companies had arrived on the ground, and, finding the small building already consumed, directed their efforts towards saving the other building, the roof and one side of which was in a blaze. Two streams of water from the cistern and one nozzle of the chemical engine were turned on, and in a short time the fire was extinuished nozzle of the chemical engine were turned on, and in a short time the fire was extinguished and the building saved. The store of A. P. Hatcher was, for awhile, in danger, and some of his goods were removed with slight damage. No insurance on the buildings burned. They belonged to the Ross estate.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS.

Representatives Nominated-The Journal's Trade Issue-Opening of the College.

HAMILTON, Ga., August 14 .- [Special]-In primary, Thursday, Mr. B. H. Williams and Dr. T. F. Brewster were nominated to represent Harris county in the next legislature. Following is the poll: B. H. Williams, 642; J. F. Jenkins, 410; T. F, Brewster, 493; J. M. Askew, 188.

The Journal is at work on a trade paper, to come out about September 15th, which will be the most complete work of the kind ever issued by a country paper.

The fall term of the West Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical college opens on Monday, the 23d inst. Prof. J. W. Dozier has charge of it, and the advantages it offers should insure a good attendance.

Hon. H. C. Cameron, of this city, who was an applicant for the position of solicitor-general of the Chattahoochee circuit, is deservedly popular and the legislature could elect no better man for the place.

ROMAN HEALTH.

A Sanitary Inspection Gives Satisfactory Re-

ROME, Ga., August 14.-[Special.]-A close sanitary inspection demonstrates the fact that Rome is today one of the healthiest cities in the south. The sanitary committee of council, of which Mr. Henry S. Lansdell is chairman, has done excellent work, and by a strict enforcement of the law has placed the city in fine sanitary condition. The death rate is ex-ceedingly small, the percentage being probably smaller than that of any other city of similar size. It is probable that in the near future Rome will become a popular summer and winter resort. In summer the days are only moderately warm, while the nights are cool and pleasant. In winter the weather is not severe. The building of a magnificent botal is one of the projects which will meteric is not severe. From Rome to Gadsden. ROME, Ga., August 14 .- [Special.]-The extension of the telephone line from Centre to Gadsden is an accomplished fact, and Rome now has telephonic communication with the latter city. This line, when extending only to Centre, was of great advantage to Rome, and the extension to Gadsden renders it still more important, and will unite the two cities in closer bonds of friendship and commercial intercourse. The line is owned and operated by the White Star Line Steamboat company, of which Cantain John I Scarlie of which Captain John J. Seay is president, and to his energy and public spirit our people are largely indebted for this useful enterprise.

The Augusta Strikers, Augusta, Ga., August 14.-The strike in the cotton mills continues without any indi-cation of a settlement. Master Workman Maynardie has a telegram from Lowell, Mass., saying that 700 strikers, who can work on striped goods, cad find employment. He has orders for hands from Charleston and Phila-delphia. Assemblies have been organized at Graniteville and Vanchuse.

Revival At Centreville. Social Circle, Ga., August 13.—[Special.]— The Methodist Protestant at Centreville, in this county, closed today a very extraordinary re-vival after eight days continuance. Twentyone accessions to the church. The interest in the services were serious and of general in-terest. The services were conducted by Rev. T. J. Johnston, the pastor, who was assisted by Rev. John G. Caldwell, of Atlanta, Ga.

Randolph's First Bale.

CUTHBERT, Ga., August 14.—[Special.]—Cuthbert received its first bale today, classed middling, weighed 478 pounds, and was bought by Mr. J. L. Sanders, one of the liveliest young cotton men in the state, for 10½ cents. The cotton was raised by Major G. F. Barfield, the Primus Jones of Randolph county.

Brute Meets a Young Lady in the Woods of Bryan County, While on Her Way to a Neighbor's and Assaults Her–He Pinishes by Er– tracting Her Tongue from its Roots.

SAVANNAH, Ga., August 14. - [Special.] This morning considerable excitement was occasioned in the city by a report that a negro had been lynched at Eden, No. 2 Central railroad, for outrage on a white woman. Your correspondent gathers the following particulars of the crime, which is the most diabolical ever recorded in the state. Night before last as Miss Bacon, living in Bryan county, was on her way home from a near neighbor's, at an early hour in the evening, she encountered Henry Smith, a negro employed on the turpentine plantation of John Morrison, who immediately attacked her and committed an outrageous assault on her person. After the deed the fiend choked his semi-unconscious victim un-til her tongue protruded ond cut it off. The wretch then fied. Miss Bacon managed to reach home in a frightful condition, and the news quickly spread.

the news quickly spread.

A force was at once organized, and with hounds started in pursuit. The negro was tracked and captured, and whilst being carried back for identification suddenly turned on his captors, knocked one down, seized his gun, shot the other man and escaped. He was fired at and badly wounded in the arm, but continued his flight and is still at large. The ursuit continued, and if he is captured will be lyched without ceremony. The excitement over the terrible affair pervades Bryan and Effingham counties.

Whi'e it was evident that he needed medical attention when he was first brought here, yet a physician was not called in to see him until all human aid was in vain. There is a radical wrong somewhere in the manner with which we deal with the insane. In this case, for instance, this unfortunate man was brought instance, this unfortunate man was brought here, bound hand and foot, as the most desper-ate desperado would be. After the examina-tion he was placed where light and air was denied him, and there died as if he had been the vilest thief in the country.

Mr. Dillingham was a hard working, energetic farmer. He was respected by all who knew him. He was of an excitcable nature, and was easily excited to a very high degree at protracted meetings. The excitement last week was more than he could bear, and when it was found that he was insane it does seem that he should have been dealt with in a different manner to what he was. It looks as if he was being punished for becoming insane. His unfortunate condition should have appealed to every heart. On the contrary it an pears that his misfortune was rather consid-

GEORGIA BREVITIES. Several new houses will soon be erected in Several new houses will soon be erected in Albany.

The old Barnes house, in Albany, which is now vacant, is being thoroughly repaired by Judge Pope.

The bycicle craze has reached Albany and these machines may be seen on the streets at all hours of the day.

Barnesville will have two new merchants september 1. Mr. Charles Tyler opens up a nice line of millinery goods and Mr. James W. Crutcher a choice stock of fancy groceries on that date.

The protracted meeting which has been in progress in the Baptist church in McDonough for a week, closed Friday night. There were eight accessions to the church, five by experience and three by letter.

The negroes of Albany don't seem to relish the prospect of war with Mexico, and in case the affair becomes more serious several vacancies will probably occur in the ranks of the Colquitt Guards, a famous colored organization of this city.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to I was troubled with a distressing Cong. Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervos. ness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became a weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and trong as ever. Mrs. E. strong as ever. — Mrs. E. L. Will Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

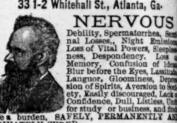

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparills. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 383 Atlantic aye., Brooklyn, N. Y.

in its "platform." As a rule, the deliverances of the conventions of both the old parties as to the liquor tradic are more explicit than ever before, and the drift is everywhere toward stricter laws for its regulation or repression. The democrats in the south go the full length of demanding absolute prohibition; in the north they reaffirm their traditional hostility to simplinary laws, but pronounce in favor of high license or other methods of restricting the consumption of liquor and bringing the business of its manufacture and sale under sharper restrictions and heavier exactions than now obtain. The republicans, of course, feel themselves colliged, as the "party of moral ideas" whose very existence is threatened by the prohibition movement, to take a more advanced position than the wicked party of "rum, Romanism and rebellion." In several states the republican organization is unly committed to prohibition, in others—as in Pennsylvania—it has pledged itself, under the astute leadership of Cameron and Quay, to the submission to the voters of a prohibitory amendment to the constitution: and everywhere elsi it is found advocating local opilo a or very high license. Meantime the prohibitionists, north and south, who have organized as a separate party, are more noisy, more aggressive, and apparently more numerous than ever.

It is probable that the result of this wide-spread agitation will be the general adoption of more rigid laws in regard to the liquor traffic than now exist. There is no likelihood that prohibition will ever prevail over a very extensive area of the republic, or that it will be strictly enforced where it may be decreed. But nothing in the future can be more certain than the downfail of the saloon as a commanding force in our politics. The liquor interest, if it is wise, will make haste to adopt a different polity than the account of the constitution in the constitution in the prohibition than the downfail of the saloon as a commanding force in our politics. The liquor interest, if it is wise, w WANTED-BOARD FOR LADY AND LITTLE daughter, within easy walking distance of Calhoun street school. Address 15 Wheat street, Agents Wanted.

be more certain than the downfall of the saloon as a commanding force in our pointies. The liquor interest, if fit is wise, will make haste to adopt a different policy than it has pursued in the past, and by a timely recognition of the marked change which has taken place in popular sentiment, and by cheerful acquiescence in all reasonable laws that may be passed for the taxsition and regulation of the traffic, disarm the temperance extremists of many of their most potent arguments. The rising tide of opposition to the traffic as at present conducted is perhaps attributable rather to popular disgust at its open and systematic defiance of law and its undue prominence as a political factor, than to any very proncunced change in the public mind as to the wisdom and expediency of sumptuary legislation. Of those who believe that the saloons of the country have been "trunning" its politics full long Brevoort house.

A NEW YORK lawyer, Mr. Etheridge, has been deputised by Secretary Bayard to visit Mexico, examine the court records and make a report on the Cutting case. Nothdone in the motte port is received.

A HORRIBLE crime is reported from Bryan county. A young lady on her way through the woods to a neighbor's house, was waylaid by a negro brute, who, after outraging her person, cut her tongue out. If caught, the fiend will be lynched.

A SANITARY inspection of Rome shows the city to be unusually healthy, and free from causes of sickness. With her excellent sanitary condition, her commanding business relations, and the enterprise and integrity of her people, Rome is bound to keep pace with the most progressive cities of Georgia.

THE letter of Hon. James H. Blount, in which he accepts the nomination, unanimously tendered him, for congress, is written in exceedingly good taste, and proves that the district is in thorough sympathy with the administration of President Cleveland. Mr. Blount is an honor to Georgia, and is in congress to stay.

THE death of a lunatic in Rabun county jail calls attention to the inadequate provision for such persons in Georgia. The victim of the Rabun county jail became unduly excited at a camp-meeting. He was at once bound hand and foot like a common criminal, taken to jail and shoved into a dungeon without light and air, where he died without the visit of a doctor.

GOVERNOR M'DANIEL expresses himself as being highly pleased with the manner in which the builders of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad are completing this splendid line, which is now within eight miles of the state line. It is said that the road will reach the state line in the course of a few weeks and be extended to Murphy, N. C., by the first of October This will make it an extremely valuable road, and, passing through the richest mineral section of the state, it will greatly facilitate the development of these varied re-

The President's Vetoes.

Some of the republican organs are raising a prolonged howl over the number of President Cleveland's vetoes. The point is made that during the session of congress just closed he vetoed more bills than all the other presidents combined.

When it is recollected that nearly all of the bills vetoed were in the nature of priwate pension grabe, it will be seen that the president had good reason for a vigorous exercise of the veto power. It was no time for timidity. When the public treasury was in darger, prompt action was required, and the country is to be congratulated upon having a chief magistrate who was equal to the emergency. The number of the vetoes is a ter of no importance. The question is: Were they necessary? There can be but one The New Judge.

The appointment of Captain William T. Newman to the United States judgeship for the northern district of Georgia will be hailed with lively satisfaction by thousands of our readers, and the general public will not be slow in heartily indorsing the president's President Cleveland could not have made selection that would have been more satisfactory to the bench, the bar and the people. Captain Newman possesses in an eminent degree all the requisites that enter into the make-up of a good judge. In this community where he has practiced his profession for more than twenty years he has long been known as a lawyer of fine attainments, patient industry, unflagging energy and lofty integrity. His high sense of professional honor, his courage in standing by his convictions, and the impartial, or rather the judicial character of his mind, lead those who know anything of him to predict for him an exceptionally useful and honorable career on the bench.

The position which Captain Newman is now called upon to fill is not an easy one. It is one of the most arduous as well as most responsible in the whole list of federal offi-It is not a lucrative place. It demands great labor and great ability for a very moderate compensation, and the lawver who is willing to renounce a large and growing business for it, undoubtedly makes something of a sacrifice. But this is a case in which the individual's loss is the people's gain. The new judge is emphatically the right man in the right place, and it will not take long for his judicial record to prove it

Stewart for Congress. The democracy of the fifth congressional district has spoken, and its verdict is that Judge John D. Stewart be the district's representative in the next congress. In so deciding, it honors a worthy citizen, a sterling man and an upright judge, who will wear, with credit to himself and his constituents, the victory which he has so brilliantly won. Judge Stewart has the esteem and confidence of the people of the whole district, and has many warm friends throughout the state, who will watch his congressional career with deep interest, and with the firm conviction that he is, in every way, worthy of the honorable and responsible trust to which he will be

But in choosing Judge Stewart, the district defeats for re election its present representative, Hon. N. J. Hammond, whose brilliant services on the floor of the national house for the past eight years have justly entitled him to the rank of leadership with his party colleagues. Mr. Hammond has, at all times, exercised a conscientious devotion to his duty, and, by his ability, skill and perseverance, has not only done much good and obtained great benefits for his immediate constituency, but by torce of these same qualities, and through his valuable experience, he extended his usefulness beyond the limits of his district. On national questions, his opinions were sought and were highly valued; as second on the judiciary committee of this house and the prospective chairman of the next, he had not a superior as a lawyer on the floor; and, as an earnest, influential, faithful, energetic and conscientious representative, he was one, among many, who achieved national distinction.

Atlanta loses the representative, but with the absolute confidence that in the hands of the new member, her interests will be as safely guarded as though he were one of her own sons.

A Farcical Court.

During the investigation of the charges against Commissioner Squire, the other day, the mayor of New York presided, but his timidity and want of self-respect caused the proceedings to be turned into a farce. extract the following from the Herald's report of the trial. Then Mr. Strahan made another speech. He said that he had advised Mr. Squire to answer no uestions because "this farcical court" had no urisdiction until the criminal indictment was disposed of, and also because Mr. Fivnn would not testify until after trial on the same indictment Thus muzzled he turned Mr. Squire over to Mr "Were you ever on the stage?" Mr. Peckham began. "What stage?" repeated Mr. Squire with a start.

"What stage?"
"The dramatic stage," said Mr. Peckham. Mr. Fourre said no and Mr. Strahan that it was ridicu-

"Ever been a ventriloquist?" pursued Mr. Peck

"Decline to answer," said Mr. Squire. "Or a margage rubber?"
"Well, I answer no to that," broke out Squire indignantly, and Mr. Strahan chorused, "Perfect

"Or a mesmerizer?" Mr. Strahan hurled an objection, and Mr. Peckham continued, "Or a racor teur of racy stories for the amusement of friends?

"Too idiotie," cried Mr. Strahan, while Mr. Squire cried "No." To you decline to answer questions because your counsel tell you not to," answered Mr. Peck

"I'm in this boat and they are rowing it." was the reply, in a jovial tone. He declined to answer so much that Mr. Peckham finally exclaime "Any reputable lawyer would do better than this It is worthy only of Tombs practice." Mr. Straham

"What sort of an animal is this?" exclaimed Mr. Peckham angrily. Mr. Strahan, trembling with anger, made some remarks about courtesy, and said Mr. Peckham had lost his head and had never much head anyway and interrupted again. "Mr. Mayor," Mr. Peckham said hotly, "this usn should keep still or be put out. I'm in favor putting him out."

"Try it!" roared Mr. Strahan, growing red in the "Conduct so ungentlemanly and so unbecomin before the mayor," said Mayor Grace, "is an insult to the people, but I have no power to suppress

The veins on Mr. Strahan's temples were swoller and his clenched hands shook as he rose to reply. He only said that Mayor Grace was acting as judge, prosecutor and witness, and that it was an unate thing for the people of New York to have such a mayor.

Mr. Peckham said that Mr. Squire's refusal to be cross-examined showed conclusively that his di-rect testimony was worthless. This started Mr. quire off. In an oratorical tone he said: "I be-eve I ought not to go on while under criminal indictment. I believe I am surrounded by the spie of those who have brought the charges-(I do bonestly believe that, notwithstanding your smile of derision," he remarked parenthetically to Mr. Peckham)—"which they ought to have brought long ago, for the knowledge they have today they had not long ago. Not that anything I could say would tend in any form or shape, however ingen ously tortured, to criminate me, but I believe I ought to hold my peace until I appear in a court where any utterance of mine will not be warped out of complexion and shape What the mayor meant by saying that he what the mayor meant by saying that he had no power to suppress such conduct is not clear. He had the power as a matter of course. It is not surprising that his lack of nerve provoked Mr. Strahan to express regret that the people of New York were so unfortunate as to have such a mayor. The whole affair was a burlesque on justice. A Family Row.

Tennessee furnishes one of the most remarkable political complications of the season. The republicans, feeling confident that the democrats would nominate R. L. Taylor for governor, made an effort to head them off by nominating his brother, A. A. Taylor. The democrats held their convention and stuck to their man. So the two brothers now stand opposing each other in what promises to be a red hot contest.

It is funny, and yet it is serious. Tennessee seems to be in a fair way to be captured by the Taylor family, no matter how the election goes. To make matters worse, some malicious marplots who delight in mischief. are endeavoring to bring out the father of the two Taylors as a prohibition candidate for governor. This would make the situation too iidiculous for anything.

We look for a spirited campaign, but most of the thunder will have to be furnished by the friends of the candidates. It is even doubtful whether the Taylors will consent to meet in joint debate. It would perhaps give them pleasure to denounce each other in a political way, but they would labor under manifest disadvantages. If the democratic Taylor should denounce the republican Taylor as an imbecile and a fraud of the first water, the crowd would see only the humorous side and would laugh until they split their sides. On the other hand, the republican Taylor would merely add to the general hilarity by holding his democratic brother up as a target for public scorn.

It is easy to see that a debate between the two would be embarrassing. Still, the candidates are earnestly desirous to see each other pulverized, squelched and snowed under, and they will put in the best licks possible under the circumstances. If their venerable parent keeps out of the race he will be strongly tempted to vote for both tickets. Unless he is an unusually strong minded old man, he will be in danger of acting very inconsistently. In a moment of excitement, it would surprise no one to see the old gentleman mixed up with a torchlight procession in honor of his democratic son. and the very next night howling himself hoarse applauding a speech from his republican offspring.

We cannot but sympathize with this nteresting family during the peculiar upbeaval now going on in their midst, and we shall breathe easier when the rumpus is over.

It Is Impracticable.

A Texan writes to the Memphis Appeal suggesting a planters union, organized with a view to reducing the production of cotton throughout the south. After arguing that smaller crops would cause an advance in the price, he says:

These views may be utopian, but no cotton planter will now say that the cotton south is Utopia. The stake is huge millions. The effort is easy. The loss is trifling if a failure. The result is magnificently grand if successful. Who will undertake it? A million happy homes will call undertake it? A million happy homes will call him blessed if he succeeds; none will curse him if he fails. Better fail in so grand an undertaking than to succeed in a driveling pittance. See how easy grangers, wheelers or farmers' alliances are organized. Is there not one man who is a good speaker with sufficient means who will spend the ime from now until next planting in this work fso, the work can be done. If not, then cannot one man be found in every county who will or ganize his county? No money is needed: only nergy, boldness and pluck. Let the planters

With a uniform reduction of the southern cotton product and a corresponding increase of home-raised food stuffs, the planters would undoubtedly be better off, but the difficulties in the way of reaching such a result through systematic organization seem to be insuperable. The grangers tried the experiment, but it amounted to nothcrop, the temptation to produce it is irresistible. When the effort was made by the grangers to decrease cotton production, some of the best men in the organization quietly slipped out and devoted a larger area to the staple than they had ever given to it before. Under existing conditions the Texan's scheme appears to be impracticable.

MISS ROSE ELIZABETH CLEVELAND Says in her magazine, Literacy Life, "The time has come when literature must help life." We have some doubt about it, but it goes without saying that if life does not help literature a little, then literature will have to give up the ghost.

A VERY romantic story is said to be proven true by a certain legacy in the will of the late Samuel Tilden. The bequest is that the interest on $100,000 shall be paid to Miss Celeste Stauffer, of New Orleans. Miss Stauffer is a very beautiful and fascinating woman of twenty eight, and was ambitious of being s president's bride. She rejected a nephew of Judah P. Benjamin, in New Orleans, and also rejected many and various lesser lights. Her father is immensely rich, and the Stauffer family always spend the summer at northern watering places or in Europe. They have spent three summers at Greystone. Once while the Stauffers occupied a cottage at Long Branch, Miss Celeste received two long letters every week from Mr. Tilden. The letters were invariably sent by a friend of the aged statesman and were always given by him into the hands of the lady and were never trusted to a servant. Mr. Tilden once gave $20,000 to a school-mate of Miss Stauffer The girl had lost fortune and "social prestige by the war and striving to support herself she became an invalid. After listening to the sad history of the poor girl, Mr. Tilden sent the check without solicitation on the part of Miss Stauffer. It is said that Mr. Tilden left a gage d'amour to Miss Stauffer, but he considered that she deserved a younger husband and one not so near death's door as he has been for a long time. THE approuncement else where of the open ing of the Sunny South Female Seminary, under the conduct of President William B. Seals will be read with interest. President Seal during his long career as an educator has been at the head of some of the best female colleges in the south. He is indorsed by many of the best known men and women in the land, and cannot fail to secure a large patronage. In his new venture he will be assisted by an able corps of teachers. The practical features of the seminary, such as phonography calligraphy, telegraphy, book keeping and typesetting, will commend the institution to many. The Sunny South seminary has a good field before it, and there is no reason why it should not meet with great success.

ABSINTHE, the drink of Parisian loungers has been introduced into America, and is becoming fashionable. It is a deep grien liquor, made from wormwood, flavored with anisa oil and adulterated with tumeric, indigo and blue vitriel. The absinthe is highly exhibarating in its effect on drinkers, and restores the nerves of men after a debauch almost like magic. As the emerald drops glide down the throat, the drinker begins to rejoice as a strong man to run a race. His eyes dilate, his memory brightens, and glorious hasheesh visons arise. The French soldiers became addicted to the drink during the Algerian war, from 1844 to 1847. Scientific men wat the effects of absinthe on the soldiers. Victims to the bewitching liquor usually became imbe-cile, and often ended their lives by suicide. ormities, idiocy, and terrible diseases. The French government prohibits the use of absinthe in thearmy and navy, but the sale is allowed in barrooms, to citizens.

DR. J. H. McLEAN, the famous pill maker, and ex member of congress, is dead. He was a resident of St. Louis, but died at Dansville, New York, in a sanitarium to which he had gone seeking health. Dr. McLean was born at Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1829, but his parents removed to America in 1830. After an eventful youth in which he was business manager of coal mines, druggist, trader and physician, the energetic McLeau settled down to making infallible liver pills and relling up over a milmion dollars thereby. He published and contributed to the Spirit of the Age, a monthly, that lived several years. He also founded the "Morning Call," a daily newspaper that died in two months. He owned $300,000 worth of real estate in St. Louis, and was president of the Manufacturer's Savings bank. The doctor leaves a wife and two adopted children. His only child, a daughter, five years old, recently died and the shock has tened his own death.

EDWARD MCALLISTER, a clerk in a crockery store, and Ellen Murphy, who worked in shoe factory, loved but he was a protestant and she a Catholic, and so trouble came. They decided to run away, get married and find a home in New York. They lived in South Bos ton. A few days ago they appeared at the town agent's office in New Haven and begged help to get home. They had started on their bridal tour with only $40, and had walked from Philadelphia to New Haven. They had failed to find employment in New York and went to Philadelphia. The unfortunate couple are utterly prostrated, and the bride is lame with a swelled knee. Added to the troubles in the flesh is the fact that they have no marrisge certificate, and their accounts of their wedding conflict to such an extent that the authorities will have "the marriage rite solempized" at New Haven before allowing them to continue their journey. Both unfortunates are nineteen years old.

Some young men played a joke on a New Yerk man by locking a vault the other day when the man was inside, To make it still funnier, they forgot the combination, and the man was nearly dead when taken out. Some people can be awfully funny when they try.

THE twelfth annual catalogue of the Central university at Richmond, Kentucky, shows that this institution has met with gratifying success and has taken a high rank among the educational institutions of the land. It has a splendid faculty, and its course of study is comprehensive, and in line with the advanced requirements of the age. FDITORS CONSTITUTION-There is a general desire on the part of our citizens to have the arts sian water delivered in their houses. This is the only pure water available for family use, and it would, consequently, be esteemed a most benefit would, consequently, be esteemed a most beneficial act if our city council would allow it to be conveyed to our homes in the same way that the water from the water works now is. Most of our wells are impregnated to such an extent from the seeping of sewerage as to be both disagreeable to the iaste and deleterious to the health; the water pumped from the reservoir is of doubtful purity; so that we are forced to look to the artesian supply for pure water. The price of the artesian water could be fixed higher than the charge for reservoir water, and this will limit the number of users so that the artesian well will produce a full supply. In this manner the city could use both kinds of water it now furnishes, for pay. Those who want clear water will pay for it and get what they pay for; those who are countent with the wat they pay for; those who are content with the water works water, rather muddy, will pay for that

These coosings are often called death traps by our newspapers, because a number of persons have be a kinked by the trains running over them at these crossings. I have a plan to death traps by our newspapers, because a number of persons have be a killed by the trains running over them at these crossings. I have a plan to ruggest by which all this danger and confusion can be avoided and by which the trains on all of the roads can run into the same depot; and but one train will have to run through the city, which will be the Georgia railread. Now I with give you my plan: Build a grand central depot after the plan of the grand central in New York. Upon or near the ground upon which the freight depot of the Western and Atlantic road now stands, let the new depot front on or near Forsyth street; let the trains all back in firm the west, and the kichmond and Danville road can then run in on her belt road; take up all the railroad tracks between Loyd and Forsyth street; scept, the two or three tracks on the our all the railroad tracks between Loyd and Forsyth streets, except the two or three tracks on the outside of the union depot, lext to the stores on Alabama street—these tracks to be left for the use of the Georgia road trains to run in on. Make a beautiful railroad avenue from the Markham house up to Forsyth street or to the new depot; plant out a row of shade trees on each side of the avenue; run a street car on the east side of the avenue from the Markham up to the new depot, to take the baggage and passengers from the Kimball and the National hotels, and to carry out the views and a uggestions of citizens in the Atlanta Journal of the 13th instant. Let the city of Atlanta buy the present union depot and make a public markethouse out of it; letthe Western and Atlantic railroad build a new freight depot somewhere above Van Winkle's shops, fronting on Marietta street so as to receive and deliver their goods on Marietta street. Humanity to the poor mules and horses that have to pull up the hills on Forryth sneet coming out from the depot of the Western and Atlantic railroad, demands the removal of that depot. Now, to consummate this grand objectlet all of our railroads and our city fathers work together.

What a grand change it will be to convert these death-traps into a beautiful park, where your wives and your children can resort for restoration with impunity.

The Tennessee Wagon company, of Nashville, Tennessee, are reaching successfully the extreme western ard northern trade, while they have an immense demand for their wagons in all the southern states. They are able to use about one milion dollars profitably in their business.

The Columbus Bugsy company, of Columbus, Ohio, and Sindebaker Bres, of South Bend (a manufacturing town of northern Indiana, with only about thirteen thousand inhabitants), are sending their buggies and wagons into every market of the world where vehicles of this class are used. They have millions of dollars profitably invested in their business. I could multiply instances enough to fill columns, but these will suffice.

Now, what do we need to make of Atlanta a great city?

Now, what do we need to make of Atlanta a great city?

Population, en'erprise, wealth. An influx of population brings wealth, talent, energy, skill and civerified industries.

The groceryman wants more mouths to fee-1; the drygoods merchant more people to clothe; the real estate man, more tenants, and purchasers of houses. The property owner wants to see a sharp appreciation of values. How are we to accomplish this? I answer Atlanta's future glory, and presperity lies in her manufactures.

Let those who have the good of our beautiful city, with her developments and prosperity at heart, agitate, organize and encourage our manufacturing interest. It will bear investigation and discussion. Too little attention has been given to this important subject.

Atlanta does nothing in a half-hearted manner. If the people and press of Atlanta will recognize this vital importance of this subject, and unite in their efforts with the right spirit, they can add ten thousand to her population in a rew years. The encouragement of our manufacturing interests will draw foreign capital and skilled lab r to our midet; it will increase our taxable property and convert into active capital the millions of dollars.

From the Macon affair, they drined into a recit-

"Before the war there was a debtors law in Georgia, and men could be imprisoned for debt in 1888, when Atlanta was a small place compared to what she is now, a young man named Choice bought some things from another Atlanta may and the creditor swore out the necessary papers and demended the arrest of Choice. A balling named Webb went to arrest him and he resisted. The late Colonel Luther J. Glenn stepped in, stopped the trouble and stood for Choice's appearance at court. Choice did not appear at court next day, but instead stepped out on the street. near the present site of the Kimball house, and shot Bailiff Webb to death. Choice was accessed and was placed in a lock up, located where the oldice house lused to stand between Whitehall crossing and Broad street bridge. The most interes excitement prevailed, and a mob prepared to take Choice cut and lynch him. The mot proceeded to the lock up, and there found the place guarded by Mr. C. C. Green, who was then sheriff, and was Mr. C. C. Green, who was the sattle, and was assisted by two or three other men. In a determined way, Mr. Green announced to the cross would kill who crossed a certain line, and the crowdenia see that he meant what he said. himself vigorously with his hat and remarked: "I shall quit this business!" "You mean you will leave the newspaper business?" I asked.

"Yes," he replied; "the truth is, newspapers pay more for legs than they do for brains. "Do you mean that you have more brains than legs?" I asked with affected surprise. "I mean that I have walked four miles in the hot sun trying to run down a rumor and it won't pan out five lines."

So Smithis going to quit the newspaper business because he has brains to sell, when the newspapers want nothing but legs. Of course Smith's place will have to be filled. Tagt is, a man will have to be put on when Smith vacates. The man who stays on will have legs, but he will have brains also. He will know, first, what news is. That will require brains. Knowing what news is, Smith's successor will get that news and he will get it quickly. That will require not only legs, but it will require a perseverance and persistence that regards neither distance, difficulties, nor cheamstances. Journalism is one thing, but the newspa

The Stature of Great Men,

From the New York Sun. This is a subject with respect to which a "In a discussion the other night I claimed that he majority of the world's great arge stature. Am I right?" The men who are commonly accounted great may be of either small or large stature. Samuel Tilden, the foremost American citizen of our period, and a man of extraordinary intellectua breadth and capacity, was short, stight, and throughout his life delicate in health, though with a strong vitality and much nervous force. Mr Gladstone is a tall man, and so, also, is Bismarck. but Distaeli was of middle height only, and Napo-lech Benaparte was short, while Wellington was lecn Benaparte was short, while Wellington was not tall. Jefferson was tall, thin and angular, but Alexander Hamilton was slight and considerably under middle stature, Franklin was short and fat, and Peter Cooper was only about five feet six. Cemmedore Vanderbilt was tall and commanding, but Jay Gould is short and unimpressive in his physical appearance. Grant was short and so also was McClellar. Farragut was a rather small man, but Robert E. Lee was of a commanding stature, as was also Charlemagne, but Hanuibal was very small, and Julius Casar was not above medium height.

These, we suppose, are men whom you would call great, but, you see some of them were short, and only a few were remarkable for their stature. It might, perhaps, be said generally that such men are more apt to be under than above the average height; for what you call greatness largely depends on especity for continuous application, and on the whole, the most enduring men and the best pro-portioned are apt to be those of medium staturs, if not those somewhat under the medium.

History Repeats Itself. From the Philadelphia Telegraph.

The history of religious enthusiasm offers a curious and instructive study. Among its other strange scatures is its recuperative power. We have been told of late years that the spread of edneation would inevitably tend to modify the old emotional religious methods, until there should be no no longer a trace of the camp-meeting fervor, be no no longer atrace of the camp-meeting fervor, and, without doubt, those methods have been steadly declining in favor, not only in the centers of "culture," but even in the far outskirts of those charmed regions. But the subject is one that can hever be ralled really settled. As fierce a brees of religious frenzy seems to be blowing in parts of Illinois at this very time as ever made the woods wild in the days of Wesley. The people are "stricken with their sins" quite in the oid traditional way. Human nature is pretty mach the same thing, not only in all parts of the world, but in one age as in another.

The Abaurdity of the Socialistic Plan. From Rand, McNally & Co.'s Bankers' Monthly

The felly and absurdity of the socialistic The felly and absurdity of the socialistic plan of an equal division of property is seen in the following statistics. The total wealth of our country, now the richest in the world, is reported at $13,500,000,000, producers. This represents the arcsmulations of two hundred and fifty years, much of it in land, buildings and machinery. An equal division would give to each man, woman and child a capital of only $70, or of $2,500 to each producer. The latter sum represents the limit of average wealth attainable. "Are you not surprised at the appointment being made so early?"

No. The president has had full opportunities to consider the application of each one of the candidates, and besides an early appointment of the public business.

ust now there are over sixty prisoners whose sentences were suspended until August 10th, who have not reported, but are in contempt of court. CITY of MEXICO, via Gaiveston, August 14—
The minister of foreign relations, Senor Mariscal, has address d a communication, under date of the 12th instant, to Minister Romero, at Washington, giving a review of all the legal points in the Cutting controversy. The com-munication draws attention to the inexacti-tude of some of Secretary Bayard's statements, due, no doubt, it says, to the unreliable information given him by interested and excited persons. The prosecution of Cutting did not originate with the judge, as stated by Mr. Bayard, but was the result of the offended perty's complaint, made in due form. Again, Cutting was not only not refused legal assistance, but was provided with counsel, he refusing to employ a lawyer. The communication enters at length into the communication enters at length into the question of jurisdiction and cites numerous authorities, including Wheaton, and other American jurists, in support of the claim of Mexico for jurisdiction over offenses committed against Mexicans on foreign territory. He cites, among others, Judge Story, who in reviewing a New York decision, says that, although the laws of every country are in their nature local, yet an offense may be committed in one sovereignty in yielations of the laws of in one sovereignty in violations of the laws of another, and if the offender be afterward found in the latter be may be punished according to the laws thereof, and the fact that he owes al'egiance to another sovereignty cannot be pleaded as a bar to indictment.

The letter closes as follows:

I am fully convinced of Mr. Bayard's wisdom and sincerity which has been shown in his prudeet conduct since he was informed through my letter to Minister Jackson of the impossibility on the part of our government to secure the immediate r-lease of Cutting. I also fully appreciate the sincerity of his repeated assurance of friendly consideration for Mexico, given to you. But our friendly consideration for the government of the United States is no less sincere and profound, and we have sufficient confidence in its wisdom and justice to expect that when, upon learning the whole truth, it finds that it has taken a wrong position, it will not besitate to recece from the same, and it well knows how to do us justice.

ABDUCTION OF A YOUNG LADY.

Great Excitement in Logansport, Indiana, Over a Mysterious Affair.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., August 14.—There is great excitement over the abduction and possible murder of Miss Luella Mabbett, an estimable girl, living south of here. Last week Amss Green, a rejected suitor, drove in a carriece to her home seized, her and carried her riage to her home seized her and carried her off. He returned home, next morning and dis-appeared. Miss Mabbett has not been seen since then, and as Green had threatened her life, it is believed she has been murdered. An organized search for her has vainly been carried on. A trail has been found leading to Wild Cat Creek, and some believe the body will be found in the stream.
Thursday night a mob, believing Green's mother knew the whereabouts of her son, went mother knew the whereabouts of her son, went to her house. A rope was placed around the old woman's neck, and she was threatened with death if she did not reveal the hiding place of her son, but threats of lynching was of no avail. The mother refused to open her mouth to betray her son. The mystery is deepened by the disappearance of another of Miss Mabbit's suntors, John Yerkis, On the night of the abduction, William Walker made a call on Miss Mabbit's sistor, and he has since been arrested as Green's acand he has since been arrested as Green's ac-complice. THE BANK STATEMENT. A Falling Off in Reserve Loans--- The Cause Of It. NEW YORK, August 14.—The bank statemen shows a further falling off in reserve, and is generally believed to be unfavorable. Reserve decreased $1,425,025; loans decreased $3,093,500; specie increased $285,100; legal tenders decreased, $3,605,000, and deposits decreased $7,542,300. Manager Camp, of the clearing house, says he has not investigated the cause of withdrawals of deposits and the loss in house, says he has not investigated the cause of withdrawals of deposits and the loss in legal tenders, but that the increase in specie is due to the change made by the sub-treasury in paying balanced in gold instead of legal tenders. AN INHUMAN FATHER.

Enraged at His Son, He Throws Him in a Thresher. Effingham, Ills., August 14.-The rumor was circulated here yesterday that a terrible tragedy, followed by lynching, had occurred near Georgetown, twenty miles south of here. The names of parties could not be learned. The information was that the party were threshing grain, when a young son of the man feeding the thresher accidentally hacked man recoing the thresher accountary hacked his father's hand with a kuife he was using to cut bundles with. This so enraged the father that he gathered his son up and threw him into the thresher, the boy being literally cut to pieces. The father, upon realizing what he had done, at once took flight. He was soon captured by the machine hands and neighbors and lynched heigh housed from the thresher. and lynched, being hanged from the thresher. The rumor produced a great sensation.

Both men took all the money they had, leaving their families destitute.

THE IRISH DELEGATES.

MICHAEL DAVITT ADDRESSES A CROWD OF HIS COUNTRYMEN.

An Immense Concourse of People Hold a Meeting in Chicago- The Irish Delegates Present-Micha Davitt Reviews the Irish Struggle and the Effect of American Sympathy.

CHICAGO, August 14.—There was a tremendcus concourse of sympathizers with the home rule movement in Ireland at Ogden's grove here teday. The meeting was presided over by ex Congressman John F. Finerty, who intreduced Michael Davitt, whose appearance was greeted with tremendous cheering. On the platform was Aleck Sullivan, ex-president of the Irish national league; Patrick Egan, president of the league, Matthew P. Brady John Reyle, O'Reily and others. Before Mr. Davitt was introduced, Chairman Finerty made a short but flery

Matthew P. Brady then read an address in Matthew P. Brady then read an address in the same vein from the executive committee of the united Irish societies of Chicago to the people, address while "contemplating with satisfaction results of parliamentary party under the leadership of Mr. Parpell so far as they have obtained for the Irish cause the approval and sympathy of Civilized nations maintained that the restoration of Ireland's legislative authority "will not be accomplished by the efforts of Ireland's not be accomplished by the efforts of Ireland's representative in British parliament alone" and that the Irish people haves right to resort to every means necessary to accomplish their and that the Irish people haves right to resort to every means necessary to accomplish their deliverance."

Mr. Davitt said: 1: 170 give you something of an acurate idea of the present crisis in Ireland, it will be necessary to allude to some circumstances with which you are doubtless, already familiar. The defeat of Mr. Gladstore's measure of home rule in parliament, and the rejection by the English electorate of the appeal which he made against this decision, has pisced the reins of government in the handsof the bitterest enemies of Irish national sentiment. This is not so much of a misfortune for the cause of home rule itself as for the evil consequences which a postponement of the question can not fall inflicting upon Ireland through continual turmoil and agitation. The methods which were resorted to in accomplishing the defeat of Mr. Gladstone's efforts were as mean and unscrupulous as the triumpha achieved will be fruitless and fleeting.

Mr. Gladstone appealed to the hearts and hearts of the British people to right a mighty wrong, which has inflicted uatoid miseries upon Irelaud. Nations, like men, are made up of good and bad qualities. The appeal for justice to Ireland was addressed to what is good in English nature. A counter appeal was made by the tories and nionists to the prejudice, bigotry and fear of their countrymen, with the result that the meaner traits in English character have triumphed for the time over the better. There are, however, associated with this defeat of Mr. Gladstone, many circumstances which go to prove that the victory of his opponents was but a pyrinticone. The weapons with which he was assailed were such as can never again be of the same service to the enemies of home rule. The division and disorganization in the liberal party made the task undertaken doubly difficult for its leader. Yet, notwithstanding the superior organization of the tories, frantic cries of "The empire and Protestantism are in danger:" the bolting of Chambelvian and Hatington; the proposal to grant to Ire in relation with the events of the past seven years, would have been far greater had Mr. Giadstone not weighted his home rule scheme with his land purchase bill. This unfortunate proposal was a milistone round the neck of the defeated measure. The tax payers of Great Britain were rightened at the idea of having Irish landlords bought out at the expense of the British exchequer and consequent y a universalery went forth against the purchase bill of the government. This opposition to buying out the Irish landlords is in liself a significant sign of the times, and victory for Irish land reformers, as well as a tribute to the movement of the Land Legue, which began the assault upon the citadel of Irish landlordism. If England will not buy out its territorial garrison in Ireland, landlords must ultimately surrender to or make terms with the Irish nation. There is a circumstance connected with the unpopularity of the land, purchese bill, so characteristic of England, that I roint the moral with it. Whise, the Irish land question was simply a matter of nackrent and eviction between Anglo-Irish landlords and the Irish people, English public opinion upheld the "sacred rights of landlord property" and denounced as "communism and confiscation" the doctrines of the fland league which affrende that the property of Irish landlords in soil had an unreal value, while the institution of landlordism itself was but the systematic legal robbery of the fruits of industry and enterprise. But mark the change. No somer did the English taxpayer see himself threatened with some financial risk by Mr. Gladstone's purchase bill, than he discovered how had an investment Irish landlord property was, and how an unjustifiable thing it risk by Mr. Gladstone's purchase bill, than he dis-covered how had an investment Irish landlord property was, and how an unjustifiable thing it would be to give twenty years' purchase for so questionable an article of value. I am sure that there is a feeling widely prevalent among our kindred here in America that the defeat of Mr. Gladstone's home rule proposals among our kindred here in America that the defeat of Mr. Gladstone's home rule proposals is not an unmixed evil. A similar sentiment largely obtains among nationalists at home Inmany respects, the constitution provided by the bit was undemocratic. The limitations of power, the curtailment of privilege and the amount of tribute were justly unsatisfactory and irritating. The safeguards provided for the interests of the British empire were ridiculously unnacessary, but they paid an unconscious tribute to the determination of the Irish voice in its struggle for liberty. These blots in the bit being undeniable, many men in America charged us with weakness in consenting to accept such a solution of the Irish question, There is no finality in human progress, nor can Ilmits be arbitrarily set to the onward march of a nation. On the other band, the history of triumphant nationalities seldom records a bound from subjection to freedom. The progress of the Irish cause must, therefore, not be judged by either an optimist or pressimist estimate of Mr. Gladstone's home-rule scheme. An account must be taken of the forces which were arrayed against that cause—the disparity in recourses between a poor country with five millions of people, having a dismal record of centuries of political subjection and social tyranny and the power of the greatest empire of the world. Judged from this point of view, are the possibilities of our movement, when we are compared to the position of the Irish cause ten years ago with that which it occupies today.

The landord garrison of Ireland, is so battered the greatest empire of the world. Judged from this point of view, are the possibilities of our movement, when we are compared to the position of the Irish cause ten years ago with that which it occupies today.

The landlord garrison of Ireland, is so battered and broken that England refuses to buy them out. More maniliness and determination is shown by Irish ter ants in protecting their interests. Dublin castle has become so politically impoverished that no English party is so poor as to do it reverence. A word the institution which ruled Ireland ten years ago is hopelessly doomed today. The greatest of England's statesmen—the prime minister who imprisoned one thousand landlesguers in 1881—has brought forward a measure in 1880, which, if carried, would have made some of these "ex-suspects" practical rulers of Ireland Not only this, but a majority of the English liberal party, with a million and a half British votes, have indorsed this remarkable change of policy on the part of Mr. Gladstone. The entire fabric of human liberty stands upon the foundation of individual right and national freedom—the national right of man to obtain access to and command of resources of the land of the country for the sustenance of himself and family, and the right of a community to govern title in its own way, so as to best promote the moral and intellectual well being of its people. To repel these rights is an inauficrable ityranny; to vindicate them is not only a human duty, but a divine injunction. While the sword has invariably been the weapon by which subject races have asserted the right to rule themselves, Ireland has traveled thus far on the road to national autonomy by its exclusively moral and pacific, though confronted in all her endeavors by one of the greatest military and most unscruptuous empires in the world. The leaders at home are neither disheartened nor dismayed at the reverse recently sustained, nor do they believe that the methods employed in this constitutional fight to be either binuted or impaired, while re has recently been manifested by the public sentiment of the country towards the efforts of Mr.

Gladstone in behalf of home rule. Try to intensify and perpetuate that feeding. Its existence constitutes a mighty factor in our favor on the other ride. While there is this practical unity of American feeling in our behalf there can be no excuse for, or extenuation of, disunity among ourselves, either at homeor abroad. We will best deserve and most surely maintain the good opinion of the American nation by priserving such unity of purpose and harmony of action in our movement as will command universal respect for the cause which it upholds and guarantee the success which we should aspire to deserve, as much for the means and methods which we employ to achieve it as for the object which the public sentiment of every civilized land declares to be the iralienable right and legitimate aspirations of our race.

THE MEETING AT NIGHT.

THE MEFTING AT NIGHT.

In the evening fully 20,000 people were in Ogden grove. Alexander Sullivan presided and made a short speech. Mr. Davitt again spoke, but briefly. In the course of his tpeech, he said the Irish people could fight their battles without an appeal to weapons. The destiny of Ireland could be worked out without the aid of dynamite; But he would not pass judgment on any Irishmen. However, as those in the old country had to stand the consequences they reserved the right to suggest the means of Ireland's salvation. But they would not rest until they had an Irish parliament in College Green. Speeches were made also by Patrick Egan and others.

Mr. Finnerty then made a motion that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Davitt, which was carried amidst cheers. THE MEETING AT NIGHT.

CARDINAL GIBBONS AND LABOR. How the Catholic Church Stands in Regard to Secret Societies.

BALTIMORE, August 14.—The American will print tomorrow an interview with Cardinal Gibbons. He says that Cardinal Taschereau's condemnation of the Knights of Labor should not be taken as the sentiment of the church. "I am not familiar with labor organiza-tions in Quebeck but it is certain that the cardinal's hostility grew ont of some local laws or the conduct of the knights, which are contrary to the doctrines of church. As to the Knights of Labor in the United States, I have not thoroughly examined their consti-tution or studied their purposes, vet from newspapers, and Mr. Powderly's statements, I infer that their objects are praiseworthy and not opposed to church views. Catholic prelates will, to a man, declare in favor of the organization of man, declare in favor of the organization of labor. There can be no wrong in it. Organ-ization is the basis of all progress, political, social and religious. Only when it is abused does the church raise her voice. I have no knowledge of local societies in Canada. Whether or not secret pledges are taken by the Knights of Labor there is a question on which more light should be thrown by their

"Vicar General Conway, of Chicago, assured me that it bears no resemblance to the order of Masons, Odd Fellows and other organizations, which the church has always antagon-ized. A distinction must be made as to the nature of secret pledges. We hold that if a nature of secret pledges. We hold that if a man joins a society, swearing never to reveal any workings and to obey the dictates of its officers blindly, he surrenders his personal liberty. On the other hand, if a man joins, swearing to keep secret its workings, with the proviso that nothing shall be contrary to the laws of the land, we hold he is perfectly justifiable? The whole question depends on which of these oaths the members take. To the latter, and oaths the members take. To the latter, and oains the members take. To the latter, and in accordance with Mr. Powderly's statements, then the church says to the Knights of Labor, 'God speed you.' If, however, the absolute blind pledge is taken, no matter how laudable the object of the society, the church can nover countenance it and will call on her children to withdraw under pain of exponential state. to withdraw under pain of excommunication. So everything depends on the promise."

been field up in the harbor and on the sound by the striking boatmen. It was reported that the McWilliams brothers line of coal boats, from Perth Amboy, were all tied up. It was said that 205 boats were tied up at Port Johnson. The tugs in the harbor were said to be idle. About thirty of them have been deserted by their crew, who will do no work until the de-mands of the canal boatmen are satisfied. District Assembly 49 Knights of Labor is broking up the boatmen's union. On Monday they will order laborers on the locks at Port Johnson, Elizabeth port, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, and Hoboken to stop work until the strike is ended.

Orders have alse been given to stop the loading of each bayes and boats at Honordale Parents and Boats at Honordale Pa oncers nave alse been given to stop the loading of coal barges and boats at Honosdale, Pa., and other places in that state, with coal intended for this port. The company was chartered to send coal to Rondout, but it is claimed that they have no right to ship chartered to send coal to Rondout, but it is claimed that they have no right to ship coal from Rondout in their own boats to tide water. The feeling namong boatmen is bitter. They say they have been ground down to the earth for years by the grasping boat owners and companies. Many of the boat owners are reported to be willing to accede to the de-mands of the men to raise the pay of captains to $50 a month and twenty-five cents a ton for harbor work.

THE CHINESE TROUBLES. Alaska Miners Set Two Boat Loads of the Coolles Advift.

SEATTLE, W. T., August 14.—Advices from Alaska are to the effect that the anti-Chinese movements have spread to that territory. On August 5th, at a meeting at Junean, it was decided that the Chinese employed by the Alaska mill and mining company, on Douglass island, must go. A committee of fifty proceeded to the island and demanded that Mr. Treadwell, manager, discharge them. He refused. The committee returned to Junean and reported to the citizens at a secret meeting. On the 6th 160 miners proceeded by boat to Douglass island, and in spite of Mr. Treadwell's protest, assembled the Chinamen, 86 in number, at the wharf for shipment to Seattle by the steamship Idaho. The captain of the Idaho refused to receive them, as Mr. Treadwell had gone to Sitka appealing for aid from the United States steamer Pinta. The miners were warned to devise a quick means of disposing of the prisoners. There were two schooners lying at Douglass island. The committee chartered one and seized the other, the captain declining to charter it. The Chinamen were put aboard the small vessels and given one hundred sacks of rice and some tea. The vessels then sailed for Wrangel island, but a storm arcse and they were unable to land, and when the Idaho left Alaska they were beating about near Juneau, both crowded with Chinese. The State's Attorney Concludes His Address.

Chicago, August 14.—At the anarchist trials today, State's Attorney Ingham concluded his address to the jury and was followed by Mr. Foster for the defense. The theme of Mr. Foster's address was that the indictment and evidence of the state did not correspond. Again and again he declared that the defendants were not being tried for socialism or anarchy, or even breaking bombs and preaching annihilation, but for murder, and no testimony was competent which did not connect the defendants with the murder specified.

Pernsylvania Coal Miners Strike.

PITTSBURG, August 14.—The striking coal miners in three of Scott's mines, at Scott Haven, resumed today at the operators' terms. The men have been out several months for au advance of 5 cents per ton and a check weighman. About 500 were affected.

The West Leisenring mine, near Uniontown, closed today on account of a strike of the men for short hours. One hundred and sixty men are out.

THE BURNING BRUSH.

GREAT NORTHWESTERN FOREST SWEFT AWAY BY THE FLAMES.

Towns Cut Off From Communication With Each Other-Dense Clouds of Smoke and Intense III Heat-Farmhouses and Pences Destroyed -Rallroad Travel Interrupted, etc.

CHICAGO, August 14.-The Daily News, Green Bay, Wis, special dated yesterday says all night long fires in the northwestern section of Brown county have been raging and the ruddy reflection of the flames has painting the murky sky a bright red. The sole topic is fire and the probability of raid.

Last night a breeze sprang up, and hopes were entertained that it would bring rain. The morning came, and the sun rose bright. Every sign of rain vanished and in the evening has cleared the air that for the past week has been obscured by smoke. Your correspondent drove from Green Bay through the burnt region. East of Green Bay, the country has been cleared and is occupied by farm houses. Everyone is suffering from the drought and crops are very poor. In the township of Bellevue, the ravages of the fire became apparent. Little patches of burnt timber stood among the surrounding pine forests. The ground in places was covered by the gray ashes of brush and leaves which had been consumed, and here and there the great windfall gave out a ruddy glow. The woods looked as if nipped by frost. The leaves on cak and hickory trees were blown and faded from the effects of heat, which in portions stood grim and bare. He says: "In my six mile ride I did not see a single bird or living thing of any kind. The township of Eaton has suffered terriby, Among the incidents related is that of the burning of the farm of a German named Clausen. All through the woods, miles from farms, are the dead bodies of animals hunned to a cries. I deserve healt through the burned to a crisp. I drove back through De-pere and Bellevne townships. The loss was even greater than in Eaton. The inhabitants are, or were, for they have now descri-ed their townships, mostly Poles. In Bellevae the devastation is complete and the suffering terrible. Many of the burnt-out people have been injured in fighting the flames.

Folities, Crops and Crime.

EDGEFIELD, S. C., August 14.—[Special]—
The defeat of Colonel John C. Sheppard for governor was no surprise nor disappointment to the best claims of the people of old Edge-field county. He made an alliance with Captain Ben. R. Tillman, the much puffed up 'farmers' Moses," and the gallant Captain Dawson of the Charleston News and Courier, took a hand in the combination. The combired influence of the trio proved miserably weak, and the three schemers fell to the ground so hard that it nearly shook the life ground so hard that it nearly shook the life out of them. Dawson is very sore; Sheppard is aick at heart, and Tillman is done for. Tillman had decided not to run for the legislature. So the big farmers' movement, that was going to sweep all things before it, has ignominiously failed. Every body should be glad of this, for as generaled by Tillman, 'twas an evit thing. Captain Ben will return to his farm a sadder and a wiser man.

THE CROF PROSPECTS.

A long ride through the greater portion of the western and northern sides of the county, during the past several days, shows that the crop prospects are not so bad as they have been represented. 'Tis true that both cotton and corn are below the average, but if we can only get all the rain we require against now and harvesting time, we may yet get in a pretty harvesting time, we may yet get in a pretty fair yield of the fleecy staple. In low places much corn has been made, despite the ruinous freshet which came early in the season. In high places more corn will be "cribbed," to employ an Edgefield phrase, than in any one year since 1882 when most shundart crows emptoy an Engenera parase, than in any one year since 1882, when most abundant crops were harvested. The fruit crop has not been anything to brag on, and not so many melous nor of so good a quality have been raised in this section. Some of our planters along the railroad line have made a good thing of their peach shipments, and some few have realized something handsome out of their melons, but as a general thing, the profits have not been

EDGEFIELD'S REPUTATION.

Old Edgefield maintains its reputation for lawlessness. It brings the blush of shame to the cheek to take a retrospective glance over the criminal records of this splendid county—where everything perfect is pleasing and only man is vile. To give the readers of THE Constitution a good idea of the number of murders which have been perpetrated within the borders of this county within the last dozen years may be repeated the criminal statistics adduced recently in the press by one of our most promising and truthful young attorneys at law—S. M. Simkins. He took the trouble not long since to make a very accurate search and critical examination of the old dockots in the clerk's office. His idea was to find out the number of capital cases which have been number of capital cases which have been tried in court during this period. What a showing! Just look at his figures—all cold-blooded murders, he says, too Here is the scarlet page of crime, the dozen years of blood.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWELNE MURDERS herength to triel. How many acqually informed.

brought to trial. How many equally infamous which the courts never were called upon to investigate? Just to think of it one hundred and twelve murders in twelve years; eleven murders every year in a small county in a civilized state. Is this not enough to damn South Carolina and clogs the wheels of industrial progress? What emigrator will come to such a region of blood-thirstiness? Edgefield's bad reputation is known from Maine to Oregon. These murders are distributed, according to years, as follows: In 1574, 16; 1875, 4; 1876, 4; 1877, 12; 1878, 14; 1879, 3; 1880, 7; 1831, 8; 1882, 5; 1883, 5; 1884, 5; 1885, 15; 1886, 14; dred and twelve murders in twelve years

A mammoth excursion will go from Columbia to the mountains next Thursday.

Color el F. W. McMaster has announced himself as a candidate for the state senate from Richland county. As far as is now known he will have no opposition. Colonel McMaster is one of the leading members of the Columbia bar, one of the most sagactous and progressive men in the county and one of the best equipped and honestest legislators in South Carolina. He deserves the place he seeks.

one of the best equipped and honestest legislators in South Carolina. He deserves the place he seeks.

The weather during the past few days has been the hottest we have known in Columbia this summer. As a consequence, many people have left the city for cool mountain retreats, which are now so easily accessible. The ranks of society are pretty well depleted just now, owing to this hegira.

Two new banking institutions, with ample capital, will begin business in Columbia the first of next month.

The antihorities of the Richmond and Dauville railroad have definitely determined not to more their work shops from Columbia to Richmond.

A musical association, similar to Atlanta's, is to be organized in Columbia soon.

"Hotel Jerome," opened in Columbia only a few weeks ago, is rapidly becoming one of the most popular hotels in the south. Mr. Rutjles, its experienced and capable manager, informs mithat he expects to have his house continually filled with northerners during the winter.

Through the clatter and clamor and crowds, the deserter was shoved and sabre prodded to the plaza de la San Carlos; hurried into a victoria, alongside which were two mounted guardas, and driven rapidly away. I could not work that day, and wandered along the walls of La Punta, restless, heart sick and with the white face of that desperate life ever between the desired and with the white face of that desperate life ever between the desired and with the white face of that desperate life ever between the desired and the desperate life.

Correspondence Chicago News. "El desertar!" "El desertar!" weve the low toned ejaculations I heard all about me one morning in the cabin of the ferry boat Edouard Fesser as it left the Regla side for the two mile trip across Havana bay to the city. The cabin was well filled, and in a moment there came fussing and fuming through the narrow passage to the forward cabin a Spanish sergeant and a guard having in charge a man of most pitiful appearance. I made room quickly, so that two seats were vacant near me, in which the guard and his prisoner sat, the latter next me, while the sergeant, bearing a paper with a dangling seal, strode forward a bit, pompous with the importance of his mission and charge. These ferries carried the gayest of crowds between Havana and the beautiful suburbs to the east, but the entrance of the party hushed the laughter and pleasant sallies of men and women instantly. All present seemed painfully exerting themselves to ignore the presence of the little group, but every one from time to time stele secret glances at the deserter, and, well for humanity, not a hard look fell upon him. Some old priests near seemed to be mov-ing their lips as if in prayer for him, and be-hind many a fan I could see the face of some beautiful senora or senorita in tears.

I knew well enough what it all meant, have ing once been a soldier myself, but I did not catch the full import of the brutal celerity of Spanish military revenge until the guard—on closing a flippant recital to a passenger next him to the effect that the man had deserted from the forces at Moro Castle some weeks bofore, after a tremendous flogging for some slight infraction of discipline, had got as far as the Jaruco mountains where he had got as as the Jaruco mountains where he had sluded pursuit for some time until finally run down by bloodhounds—remarked airily: Ab, yes, He will really not even need breakfast again. The consejo de guerra (court-martial) is al-ready awaiting his arrival!"

This deserter was but a boy. He had a fair face, too, round, almost boyish, even through the hunted look that had made him an old man the nunted look that had made him an old man in terror and desperate effort during those few weeks in the chapparral. His clothing was in rags, and his bare flesh, scarred and bloody, showed through. His feet were partly bound with rags and bark and thongs of the ribbon tree. He was bareheaded, his hair tangled and knotty, and in one place a sabre cut was still open and bleeding. But he sat there with his hands clinched and his face like a piece of marble begrimmed with mud. marble begrimmed with mud.

Through the windows of the ferry the spars, rigging and flags of a thousand ships upon the peaceful bay gleamed and glowed as we passed. The sun that lighted the whole earth with such splendor kissed the mountain and made old Moro Castle even beautiful. The deserter looked at Moro as with an awful fascination. Then, as if beyond it and what he knew was waiting for him there, the poor fellow's eyes seemed strained to some point far, far away. Ah, his frantic soul vaulted the hated walls to old Castile, mayhap to his own peasant home, to the mother, the sisters, to a peasant girl's thatched-roof home by the vineyards, and, brave as he was trying to be, his whole frame writhed, his breast heaved and surged and though he clinched his hands tighter and looked old Moro squarely in the face, his blue eyes filled and filled again with tears that scaled their way through the chaparral filth loro Castle even beautiful. The deserter scalded their way through the chaparral filth on his face like torrents. A dozen schemes for rescue shot through my brain. The sight and thoughts sickened me. I could scarcely remain in that cabin for the pity this man roused in me.

My so'e helpful possessions in Cuba at that moment was a small piece of plug tobacco and a $2 bank of Havana bill. I quickly had these made in a compact wad. I got my crippled knee sgairst his leg. He started and looked me full in the face. My hand was on the low iron division rail between the seats, and it touched his. God knows a soldier's human sympathy to a soldier in some subtle way swept from my heart to his in that touch. His clinched hand melaxed and turned. The palm was next mine. Our hands clasped, and there so on to Adamsville, on the western limits of Cook's District, and attach some to Blackhall District, for the following reasons:

First, The great inconvenience and loss of time on the part of your petitioners getting to and from their precinct in Cook's District for the purpose of registering, voting, and other business necessary to be transacted by citizens at their district precinct. Said precinct being located on the Marietta street road, is very inaccessible and difficult for your petitioners to reach without first coming to Atlanta and thence out Marietta street, while the precinct of Blackhall District very convenient. Many of your petitioners pass through West End directly by said Blackhall District daily, to and from the city, and those who do not so pass daily could, with little inconvenience and loss of time, pass the precinct going to and from Atlanta and could conveniently transact all precinct business. Second, We very much desire the benefits of the stock law, which our neighbors north of us do not desire the adoption of the stock law in Cook's district, and your petitioners feel assured, with Cook's district in its present shape and composition, they will not soon be able to secure the very desirable benefits resulting from the stock law now enjoyed by our neighbors of Blackhall district.

Pencil Paragraphs Caught On the Fly By The Constitution Reporters.

CONSTITUTION.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.—Louisa Free-man was arrested yesterday on a warrant, charging her with stealing a ring. The arrest was made by Patrolmen Hilson and Mercer. THE ATLANTA ARTILLERY,-The Atlanta Attillery company will meet tomorrow night at the State library. The meeting should be fully attended, as the company contemplates an eary appearance on the streets.

HIT ON THE HEAD.—A man named Parker was struck on the head with a stone thrown by an unknown party on Decatur street late last night. The lick was a severe one and made an ugly wound which bled profusely.

HE WAS HURT .- Gent Word wants the Farman Farm Improvement company to pay him five thousand dollars for being hurt while working in acid at the factory. He has filed a suit in the clerk's office of the superior PONCE DE LEON AVENUE.—This beautiful avenue is now open for the first time to Ponce de Leon springs. You can drive from Peach-tree street to the springs. We predict that in a short time this will be one of the favorite drives of the city.

A BAD OLD HORSE.-Yesterday there was A EAD OLD HORSE.—I esterday there was fied in the clerk's office of the superior court a suit against the Metropolitan, street car company by Henry Wooten, who claims that he was kicked on the head by a vicious horse while hauling cross ties.

Manufacturees' Clam Bake —Mr. H. W. Fairbanks, superintendent of the Atlanta cotton factory, has just received an invitation to attend the manufacturers' clam bake at Golden Springs, near Providence. The invitation is the neatest and handsomest thing of the kind ever seen in Atlanta. HE FELL WITH VERTIGO. - Dr. H. H. Carey, of LaGrange, was seized with a fit of vertige on Peachtree street late yesterday, and dropped to the sidewalk. Several gentlemen ran to his assistance and he was carried into a ding store. Dr. Pinckney was on hand and promply revived the gentleman, after which he was sent to his hotel. THEY RIDE TO MARIETTA. - The Atlanta wheelmen leave for Marietta at 6 o'clock this merning, starting from their club room. The entire club will go, and they expect to reach their destination in time for a late breakfast. They will attend church in Marietta in a body, and in the afternoon ride out to the cemetery and clinch the mountain. They will return home this afternoon,

THE DOG WAS KILLED .- Charlotte Sewell will appear in police court tomorrow morning to answer the charge of allowing vicious dogs to run at large. The woman owned the dogs that bit the small child in Gradytown, day before yesterday, and secreted it in the house to prevent the officers from shooting it. Yesterday Patrolmen Lynan and Heldebrand found the dog on the street and shot it. They then made a case against the woman.

AGAINST THE CITY .- John Ficken, F. W. J. Schmeltzer and Herman Bleim, trustees of the German Lutheran church, have entered suit against the city for seven hundred and fifty dollars damages. They claim that in 1883 they were in possession of and had titles to a certain tract of land situated at the intersection of Whitehall and Forsyth streets. That the city suproprieted said land for street. That the city appropriated said land for street purposes, without legal advice upon the same.

THE FOCE RACE.—About three hundred people attended the foot races at Grant park resterday, between Ed Clagston and Charles yesterday, between Ed Clagston and Charies McKnight. The first race of one hundred yards was easily won by McKnight, who is a very fast runner, having already won a gold medal in a foot race. The second race was two hundred yards, and was very close, McKnight winning. Clagston's colors were a white shirt with blue trunks; McKnight was white shirt with breed can be with suit with a red can. were a white suit with a red cap.

THE REUNION .- The committee to arrange for the reunion to be held at the hall of Goorgia ledge, Independent Order of Good Templars, Monday night, met at the residence of Mr. J. G. The Willing Workers.

The Willing Workers of the First Christian thurch met at the lovely home of Mr. A. C. Bruce on Highland avenue Friday night. A delightful programme consisting of musical and literary selections was rendered, after which refreshments were served on the lawn in the clearest moonlight, by pretty girls. Altogether the meeting proved a most profitable and enjoyable one to the club. The programme was fast follows: Plano solo, Miss Lizze Holland: "Sister and I," recitation, Miss Sadle Park; plano solo, Miss Willingham; recitation, "Gur Folks," Miss Lizzie Frye; song, "Non e ver," The Matteil Irene Howell; recitation, "Shamus O'Brien," Mr. Chas. T. Logan; music on accordion, Mr. Masser: "Asleep at the Switch," recitation, Mr. E. B. Hook. The Willing Workers.

Warning:

It is not to be wondered at that most Americans are dyspeptics. Swallowing ice cold drinks on a hot summer day does the mischief. Why then not add ten drops of ANGOSTURA BITTERS, the world renowned tonic of exculsite flavor, and thus avoid all danger of cold in the stomach.

GOVERNOR'S OPINION.

OF THE MARIETTA AND NORTH GEORGIA RAILROAD.

e Tells The Constitution What He Thinks; of the Line and its Future—His Trip Over the Road and What He Saw and Learned—North Georgia and Its Future Prospects.

The readers of THE CONSTITUTION will remember that an act of the legislature at the last session adjusted the claim of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad against the state. on account of the loss of the convicts and the damages paid by the company to penitentlary companies Nos. 2 and 3, under decree of Fulton superior court. The company was to finish the road to North Carolina line in a specified time, and were to report the distance completed at the end of each month, and were to receive certain conditional credits on the debt of the company to the state amounting to more than sixty thousand dollars principal and several years' interest. The credits to become operative and the debts to be cancelled upon compliance of their part of the adjustment. Under this act the road was extended and monthly reports made of the progress of the work to the governor.

HE LIKES IT ALL. On Thursony last Governor McDaniel with Major J. B. Glover, the efficient superinten-dent, went over the entire line and inspected the line, particularly that portion completed since the passage of the above recited bill. Last night a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION called upon Governor McDaniel at the man-sion, and asked him about his trip over the road. The governor is not at all friendly to interviewers, but said: interviewers, but said:

"It is a narrow gauge railroad, running from Marietta northward through the counties of Cobb, Cherokee, Pickens, Gilmer and Fannin, and around through a portion of North Carolina and to Murphy, at which point it will be met by a railroad being pushed southward, and now completed to within twenty-five or thirty miles of Murphy."

"How far is the Marietta and North Georgia road open for travel?"

"How far is the Marietta and North Georgia road open for travel?"
"It is open for travel and traffic to White Path, in Gilmer county, ABOUT SIX MILES NORTH of Ellijay, and within seventy-five miles of Marietta. From that point northward rails have been laid to Toccoa river, beyond the Blue Ridge mountains, a distance of fourteen or fifteen miles. A special train was made up at Ellijay, and myself and the party who accompanied me were taken over that portion of the road not yet open for traffic. The Toccoa river at a point where the line crosses eight miles from the North Carolina line, which is distant from Murnhy by the proposed route shout fourteen

Murphy by the proposed route about fourteen niles, so that there remains about twenty-two miles to be completed from the Toccoa river to the end of the line. Nearly all of this has since the work was done, the work of regrading it is considerable. The bridge across Toccoa river is in process of construction, and the present weather would indicate that it will be completed within ten days when the present weather would indicate that it will be completed within ten days, when the work of track-laying between the river and Murphy will be pushed rapidly forward. Steel rails have already been purchased, and are now in transit. It is supposed that the read will pass the state line sometime in October, and will reach Murphy by the end of the year."

"What is the character of the construction of the road?" of the road?"
"It is excellent. Much of the rail is forty pound steel bar, and such portion as is of iron is in good condition, and adapted to a considerable traffic. The cross ties are perhaps as good as are laid on any railroad in Georgia, being of oak and large in size.

THE DIFFICULTIES OVERCOMING the route have been considerable, but, still the grades have been so adjusted as to make a reliable road bed. The line runs through one liable road bed. The line runs through one of the finest regions in the state. In fertility of soil, minerals, marbles, timber and climate, it of soil, minerals, marbles, timber and climate, it cannot be surpassed. Forty miles, perhaps fifty, of the distance from Marietts to the Teccoa river, lies through a succession of brautiful and fertile valleys, the most notable of which are the Etowah, Tolona and the Ellijay. The lands in all these valleys are exceedingly rich and are covered with a magnificent crop of corn. After passing Ellijay, the road crosses the Blue Ridge through Green Gap, passing over without a tunnel. The highest point of the gap north of the Toccoa river, when is to be named 'Blue Ridge,' and the neighborhood think

A CONSIDERABLE TOWN

A CONSIDERABLE TOWN will be built there in the future."

"It will be a good road?" Yes. There is no distance of ninety miles of railroad on the continent which presents a more varied and beautiful mountain scenery. The effect of the opening of this railroad through this region is already seen in the improvement visible along the line. When completed it will not only develop the resources and insure the prosperity of all that section, but will prove a most valuable feeder to the Western and Atlantic railroad, and thus the state will reap a double benefit—in an increase of taxable property and in increasing the value of its own railroad. After thoroughly inspecting that portion of the road Yes. There is no distance of ninety miles creasing the value of its own railroad. After thoroughly inspecting that portion of the road not open for traffic, we returned to Waite Path and stopped for the night. At this place, which is already becoming popular, we noticed a large number of people from ATLANTA AND OTHER GEORGIA CITIES

ATLANTA AND OTHER GEORGIA CITIES enjoying the cool mountain breezes and the fine mineral water of the springs, and Friday I returned to Ellijay, where I spent the night, and returned to the city today, arriving in the city late in the afternoon. But before I finish, the company has a considerable equipment for an unfinished road, there being more than one number over a proposed. than one nundred cars and seven engines.
The road seems to be doing a prosperous business in view of its unfinished condition."

ATHENS, Ga., August 9.—Mr. E. A. Angier, A. P. C. C. A. F. Co., Atlants, Ga.—Dear Str.: Yours of the 6th inst. inviting me to address the "C. C. A. of F. C." on the 17th inst., has been received.

I do not think it will be possible for me to be in Atlanta at the time named, but later on during the month, or, at furthest, in September, it will afford me pleasure to speak under the auspices of the C. C. A. of F. C., provided my views are not inconsistent with the platform of the association.

1. I am an earnest advocate of temperance.

2. 1 believe that the sale of liquor snould be confined to quarters where the strictest police control is possible.

3. I am not in favor of allowing sales in quantifined to quarters where the strictest police control is possible.

3. I sm not in favor of allowing sales in quantities of less than a quart

4. I sm opposed to allowing liquor drank in public places or on the premises where sold.

5. I sm opposed to the operation of the present local option act when applied to the cities of Georgia.

6. As between prohibition and retail sales under strict regulation for Atlanta, with regret that the choice was forced upon me, I should vote for the latter.

To there six propositions I would make a few exceptions, but generally, they present my views.

Very truly yours.

ATLANTA, Ga., August 14.—Messrs, E. A. Angler and R. H. Knapp, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs: Your valued invitation to be present and address the maeting of the members of the conservative organization which you represent, on Tuerday evening, 17th inst., has been duly received and considered. Others a have kindly represented to me that a duty devolves on me to accept the invitation, because, aware of my conservative views on the questions giver which the people of our city are at variance, they flatter me by professing to believe that I may be enabled to advance an idea or plan through which harmony may be forecasted, if not restored. Viewing the division amongst our people as the chief evil of this unfortunate juncture, I will, at the time mentioned, state what policy, in my humble judgment, ought to be pursued that criminations and recriminations amongst ourselves may cease, and the work and words of all our citizens may be tegether for our further and continued progress.

With acknowledgments of the compliment implied, that my views are worthy of any attention, I remain, Very truly truly yours, A. H. Cox.

THE ATLANTA ORATOR.

THE ATLANTA ORATOR. How the Northern Press Look Upon Our Ministers.

How the Northern Press Look Upon Our Ministers.

The Jamestown, N. Y., Evening Journal, in speaking of Rev. J. W. Lee, pastor of Trinity church, this city, says:

The sermon of Rev. J. W. Lee, of Atlanta, Ga., in the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning was a remarkable discourse. Nothing more striking, entertaining and edifying has been heard in this city. Mr. Lee preached to the same congregation two years ago, and at that time made a fine impression. But the sermon yesterday was really of a bigh order and stamped Mr. Lee in the minds of his audience as one of the first preachers of this country. His methods are natural, straightforward and scientific. He talks about the spiritual world as though it were as real as the world of phenomena and appearance. He deals with religious truths as though he was as sure of them as of the laws of heat and gravity. His sermon was a unity—one part related to every other part, and all growing in the most natural and erderly way out of the text. But around it, and above it and through it there was thrown the glow of a quaint southern humor. This at once put the speaker and his audience upon the best of terms with one snother.

Northern people are beginning to wonder if there are many more such preachers in Georgia as J. W. Lee, Sam Small and Sam Jones. If so they are ready to conclude that Georgia soil is adapted to growing preachers. Some other things astonish the Lotthern Leople—the easy and summary methods Georgians have of prohibiting the whisky. Itselfic, gambling and Sabbath violations. It is gradually dawning on the minos of nort-ern people that many of the methods southern people have of dealing with the problems of this time are deserving of careful study.

THE CHAMPIONS ON THE WIN AND THE SAVANNAHS LOSING.

The Game at the Park Yesterday Adds Another Vic-Again in Memphis - Macon Losing a Game to Nashville - Diamond Dust.

The champions defeated the Charleston cam yesterday with hands down.

The game opened with Purcell at the bat. Sullivan's delivery was an easy thing for the hard hitter to solve and be added a base hit to his already big record. The inning close! with two runs for Atlanta, Shaffer proved tame in his work and by a little hard work the visitors se-cured two runs in their half of the first, but after that they either could not or would not work. The features of the game were Phillips' errors and a triangular quarrel on the grounds between Phil-lips, Kappel and Sullivan. In the sixtn a ball was knocked to third. Kappel and Phillips both tried to get it. Both had a chance and 1 oth made a fumble. Sullivan did not relish the errors and dropped the balls did not relish the errors and dropped the bails over the plate during the rest of the inning, and the champions pounded out four runs, when one would have been a big let had Sullivan played such ball as Gus Schmelz made him play last year. After the inning Phillips, Kappel and Sulli-van met over the water bucket. They were all mad and Kappel asked:

"Sullivan, why don't you pitch ball?"
"Why did yez make them errors?" he reolied heatedly.

About five hundred people were present.

Savannah Defeated by Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., August 14 .- [Special.] -The attendance today at the third game played between Memphis and Savannah numbered about 1,000. The visitors had the game won up to the ninth inning, when the locals bunched their hits and earned four runs. Knouff pitched a great game, yielding only six hits and striking out thir-teen men. Black, of the locals, knocked a home

It Is Ours. Atlanta now has a clear lead of 38 points in the pennant race. The week has brought the At-lantas one defeat and four victories, while it has given the Savannahs one victory and three de-feats. If Atlanta wins tomorrow and Savannah leses it will be next to impossible for Atlanta to lose the pennant. However, bad ball playing and bad nick combined may take the pennant else-where.

Phillips in Police Court. Phillips, the Charleston short stop, had an official introduction to Chief Connolly yesterday morning. The introduction was in the shape of a subporta to appear in police court to answer the charge of disorderly conduct. The charge grew out of Phillips's conduct on the grounds Friday. Mr. C. Knowles stated to Chief Connolly previous to the session of the court that he could not swear that Phillips was the man who swore. Mr. Harry Stockdell made the same statement and in-formed the chief that he would pay Phillips's fire if one was imposed. Mr. Walter Brown asked that Phillips be discharged, and the re-quest was compiled with and Phillips was saved an appearance in police court.

Dundon says he intends to beat Savannah when hey visit Nashville, To avoid the rush at the gates next Wednesday tickets will be sold from town. Manager Powell, of the Charleston club, han-dles his team in a business-like way. Daniel C. Sullivan has been blacklisted by the Memphis club for jumping his contract. The biggest crowd ever assembled at a base ball match will be that of next Wednesday. The Memphis Avalanche says: "There can be no doubt but that Atanta will keep the flag." Clire has not been coaching much recently, but says that he is saving himself for the Savannah

It is about time that Denny Lyons was getting on to the ball; his natting has not been good the past ten days.

Atlanta to retain the pennant.

The great games between Atlanta and Savannah will begin next Wednesday, and Savannah is counting on winning four straights.

It is understood that the Atlanta directors will have tickets on sale down town for the Savannan games, so as to avoid the rush at the gates.

The Charleston club will play Monday afterneon, and will have Hollacher in the box, and he says that he can certainly defeat Atlanta.

"Mother, May I Sing the Umpire ?" The following lines are dedicated to the lovers of baseball all over the country without any extra charge:

Mother, may I slug the umpire?
May I slug him right away,
So he cannot be there, mother,
When the club begins to play?

Let me clasp his throat, dear mother, In a dear, delightful grip With one hand, and with the other Bat him several in the lip.

Let me climb his frame, dear mother, While the happy people shout; I'll not kill him, dearest mother— I will only knock him out. Let me mop the ground up, mother, With his person, dearest, do; If the ground can stand it, mother, I don't see why you can't, too.

Mother, may I slug the umpire—
Slug him right between the eyes?
If you'll let me do it, mother,
You shall have the champion prize.

Flowers by Mail. Vick's Magaizine for August.

Flowers to be sent by mail should be cut in the morning before the sun has had much effect on them. The best packing material is their own foliage, or instead of that any good foliage. The best package is a tin box or case. Place a bit of moist brown paper at the bottom, lay in the flowers so that they will snugly fill the box, put another piece of damp paper over all, and enclose with the cover. If oiled paper is at hand the box can be lined with it and no damp paper will then be needed. A paper wrapper about the box securely tied, completes the package. Damp cotton is often tied about the stems of the flowers, but usually this supply of moisture is too great for them when closed from the air, and causes decay. It is unnecessary when packed as before described. Dry cotton is often used to proceet the flowers, but it is uncless for this purpose, and it absorbs the n oisture from the flowers and leaves, and they reach their destination quite wilted. Flowers to be sent hy mail should be cut

Later, when the Conservative Citizens' meeting perfected an organization at Concordia hall, Mr. Angier made some reference to

This appears to have riled the reverend gentleman, and in the issue of the Conflict which was found in circulation early yesterday morning there was a vigorous elitorial dedicated to Mr. Angier and another dedicated to the Conservative citizen, metiaz, The editorial touching Mr. Angier was about a column long and was written with a pen dipped in a caustic fluid, flavored with spic s. The editorial says in speaking of Mr. Angier that his course is such as not only to disappoint the just expectations of his friends, but also to give rise to frequent and increasing wonder as to what he will do next.

It then reconnis the opposition manifested when and after Mr. Angier's candidacy had been confirmed by the citizen's meeting, and been confirmed by the citizen's meeting, and says:

But more conservative, if less wise, counsels prevailed—and these counsels were largely influenced by the personal and express pledges of these gentlemen. Including Mr Angler that if elected they would earnestly favor the inforcement of this law as well as all other laws and ordinances of the state and city.

This gentlemen, including Mr. Angler, were of good family, had borne previous good character and were deemed reliable canough to keep their express promises—especially when the duty promised ran in 1 arailed ince with the interests of peace and law and order in the community.

Has this gentleman kept these promises? Let the fact answer.

He has lost no opportunity, and indeed has made occasion, when none offered, from his seat in the general council to announce to the public that the prohibition fanatics had well-nign ruined the city and if unchecked would soon d) so completely.

It says that Mr. Angier objected to c'osing It says that Mr. Angier objected to c'osing basedall poolrooms, and had gone outside of the council and helped to organize a party to repeal the prohibition law, while he is ple leed to its inforcement. It refers to his resolution instructing the mayor to reduce the $500 fine recently imposed by Judge Anderson, and criticises his course severely.

The entire article was read with a great deal of interest, and copies of the paper were in demand. But no more interest was manifested in the editorial upon Mr. Angier than was demand. But no more interest was manifested in the editorial upon Mr. Augier than was centered in a paragraph of the editorial about the Conservative Citizens' association. The paragraph has a great deal of life in it—much more than ministers usually waste in penning sentiments or feelings. It is:

Atlantians, Georgians, behold your deliverers, the angelie Paul and the immaculate Bill. Can you doubt that heaven will be propitious to a cause hallowed by the leadersnip of these saintly men? What an everlasting honor, too, that you are permitted to join a club which had its birth in the wisdom of their great minds and the heavenly purity of their great hearts.

Considerable interest was exhibited as to whom Paul and Bill were. The language of the editorial conveyed so much feeling that everybedy came to the conclusion that it referred to General Paul Jones and Mr. Wm.

During the afternoon Mr. E. A. Angier was shown a copy of the paper. He read the eli-torial, and as he read his face changed its ex-pression a dezen times. Anger, pleasure, dis-gust all made themselves apparent, and as he fluished reading he said.

finished reading he said:

'That is the most ill-natured article I have ever read. But it illustrates just what the platform of the conservative citizens affirm," "What's that?" asked a Constitution reporter.

"That Mr. Hawthorne and his crowd are in-temperate, abusive and proscriptive. Their check is really monumental. They phari-sarcally claim a monopoly of morality and want to establish a corner on all the virtues. Why, you have read of the white sepulchre, the self rightens phareses in the the self righteous pharesse in the good book, who thanked God that he was not as other men. Well, I commend that gospel lesson to the doctor and his associates, and the lesson to the doctor and his associates, and the further one, that they had better pluck the beam out of their own eye first, so they can clearly see the mote in their brother's eye. But I believe the article was evidently inspired, if not written, by some city official."

"He says that there was an organized protest against you in your ward."

the writer don't know what he is talking about. At the citizens' mass meeting last year I was, after several ballots, unanimously chosen as the nominee from the third ward, and their action was unanimously ratified by the general committee. and on being reported back to the mass meeting by them adopted, the only dissent being by Mr. Green Dodd and two others, who were greeted with the most derisive laughter by that large meeting, and who speedily sneaked back into their chairs to hide themselves for very shame in the face to hide themselves for very shame in the face of the storm of ayes that ratified my nomina tion. After this Mr. Green Dold formed a bolt all by himself, and a very clever gentle-man ran against me, but I beat him by over a thousand majority. The only objection made to my nomination was because I lived on the edge of the ward."

"But it says you made express promises to prohibitionists."

"That is the silliest halderdash. Everybody."

"That is the silliest balderdash. Everybody who takes pains to inquire into it knows that a councilman takes an oath of office before entering upon his duties and I have observed and tering upon his duties and I have observed and it pose to observe mine according to the dictates of my conscience and not theirs. The local option act is a state law and I remonstrated against the city ordinance extending the range and operation of this state law. You set he people voted for a certain at and it wild be a fraud on the people to make penal acs to declared so by this still law. I am willing for a click to enforce this law as well as all others, but I am unwilling to rass still harsher laws.

but I am unwi ling to lass still harsher laws. I don's believe in making the observance of this law the sale and paramount duty of the authorities and subordinate other laws to it. The conflict or nobody can point to a single act of mine favoring the non-enforcement of this law as originally voted for by the people we thout the attachments and additions the other side wanted to interpalate into it. I voted for Martin as police commissioner, and voted for Martin as police commissioner, and they can't object to that surely. Martin will tell the conflict row of the persistent efforts they can't object to that surely. Martin will tell the conflict row of the persistent efforts and appeals to get me to vote against him and how they failed. I am frank to say that I have dec ared in favor of a repeal or modification of this prohilition law. That's entirely conserved with a man's office a duty. You promise to observe as long as it is a law, but that don't obligate you not to have it changed, if you can. Congressman Hammond and many other conscientious men go to congress, the legislature, and the city council, and take an oath of office, when at the time there are certain laws on the statute book they intend to try and have changed. Ours are not like the laws of the Medes and Persians, that change not. Hammond takes an oath to support the tariff and internal revenue laws, and yet at every session you see him and Morris on attempting to repeal laws they have "expressly promised" to emforce. Gladstone and Parnell take an oath of office, and yet at every session you see him and Morris on attempting to repeal laws they have "expressly promised" to emforce. Gladstone and Parnell take an oath of office, and yet at every session of parlisment you see them grandly, like herces, typing to change the laws towards down tredden Ireland, writhing beneath the heel of the oppressor. They endesvor to reprol or modify these very laws they swear to support. What is thus true on a big socie of big men is equally true on a small scale of still smaller men. It is true, whenever they try to, foist upon our people this second edition of it upon our people this second edition of it be blue laws of Connecticut; the witcheraft policy of Massachusetts; the mice guide and rigidly righteous isms of Plymouth Rock, I feel the liberal spirit of the southern cavalier and rotest by speech and vote, and shall continue to do so. For the opposition to arrogate to themselves all the goodly virtues, and proclaim themselves as the bright and exclusive examples of a holy life, the elept and sait of the earth; that they are the personification of all morality, is sublimated cheek. Modesty where is thy blush; vanity and egotism, where are thy shame?"

"He tays your resolution to reduce those fines were couched in imperative language?"

The resolution was hurriedly written and I stated in presenting it that it was a request from a co-ordinate branch of the government to the mayor. I afterwards modified it to conform to the sensitive dignity of the mayor for executive elemency and my impression is that Mr. Beatie voted for it, so the sledge-hammer of the conflict on this topic falls on Mr. Beatie swell as me. Moreover, I was the author of the conflict on this topic falls on Mr. Beatie swell as me. Moreover, I was the author of the conflict on this topic falls on system. No, this is, or ought to be, a free country; for as Henry Ward Beacher says, "a paternal government is an infernal government;"and that government is paternal and despotic that seeks a universal guardianship for the people, South Carolina has experimented with the hobby of prohibitory legislation, and has tecome disgusted with it and resolved on its ropeal. The Indiana state convention recently put in a good plank against this sumptuary nonsense. Maine last week put out a prohibition ticket to "put down the lieuor traffic." What a commentary, what a humiliating confession fession after forty years' experience! No, you can't legislate such bogus counterfeit morals into a people!

A Mysterious Hole in the Ground.

Sheepmen lately in town, says The Inyo (Cal.) Register, report a remarkable condition of affairs in existence at a point in the Sierras, some thirty miles southwest of this place, the exact iocality of which, however, we have not as yet ascertained. It appears that the scene of action is near the extinct volcanoes whose lava flow extends across the valley below Fish springs; this is but little more than a surmise, however. At any rate, the Sierras there present on the west a steep wall. For some years past the sheepmen driving their flocks through the mountains have noticed with great wonder the presence of a fissure in the mountain side. When first noticed it was hardly more than a mere line, but each succeeding visit has shown the rift to be wider than it was the year before till it is now at least a foot wide and a mile in length. The break extends almost due north and south, and, indaring from its nature, those who have seen it believe it to be in some way connected with the terrific activity which shaped all the surroundings. The walls, as far as a lowered candle reveal; go down vertically, without approaching one another in the slightest degree. Stones dropped in are heard to tumble for some time on their way to the interior of the earth. That the rift is practically fathomless is certain; besides the depth shown by dropping stones into it, the air at the mouth is very much warmer than elsawhere, showing the connection with the hot interior. Small animals held over the mouth of the chasm are not affected, no more than is a lighted candle. The rapid growth in size of this mysterious hole in the ground during the last year is supposed to be connected with the increased earthouske activity during the time. No matter what the explanation may be, the phenomenon is a remarkable one, and is certainly worthy of scientific investigation. A Mysterious Hole in the Groun

ARP'S LETTER:

THE BARTOW PHILOSOPHER AND THE FARMERS.

The State Agricultural Convention and How They Were Entertained by the Good People of Carterwille-What He Thinks of the Proposed Mexican War-On the Wing.

Our people are happy and they are proud. They swell around and say: "We did this thing up brown. We treated those farmers splendid, and they appreciated it. There's nothing small about Cartersville."

Well, our folks did do their best, and it was a fitting tribute to a notable body of mengood men, honest men, unpretending men. It was an assemblage that would do honor to any town. It beat the Georgia legislature for talent and sobriety and sincerity. There is no lobbying about this convention; no political strategy; no log rolling; but they all come together to talk and to act for the good of the state. When such men as Judge Henderson and Colonel Hardeman and Chancellor Mell and Dr. Louis Jones and General Phillips and Fannin and Nesbit and Northern and Livingston and Waddell and Harrall and Waring, and others of like character, are seen in an assembly of farmers, you may know that the country is safe, I wish they would come every year. Bartow county can well afford to play the host to such distinguished guests. Their very presence distinguished guests. Their very presents has a good influence. Our county is a little peculiar about politics and some other things, but she is hospitable and has a history to be proud of. Old Mark A. Cooper was one of the fathers- one of the pioneers—and there was Chailes Wallace Howard, and Dr. Lewis, and Charles Wallace Howard, and Dr. Lewis, and Wm H. Styles, and the Rowlands, and Judge Trippe, and Warren Akin, and old Judge Underwood, and Dr. Miller and Judge Wright, all of whom domiciled here and were men of convictions, and dared to maintain them. They were original thinkers and were independent in politics and in religion. Judge Wright and Dr. Miller are independent yet. They follow no multitude just to be on the popular side. In fact they run with the minpopular side. In fact they run with the mia-ority generally and ask no favors. Judge Wright has gots cannon loaded right now with buckshot and tacks and is ready to demolish all the national banks at one snot. There must be semething in the air or the water that probe semething in the air or the water that produces such men in Bartow. Sam Jones was very quiet and subdued until he moved here. Dr. Felton never fired up his engine until he settled down in Bartow. Before the war our planters lived like kings. They were rich and proud. Their sons and daughters went to college. They had fine stock and kept up their annual fairs and had fine carriages and plenty of pieces. They were a few mortages reof niggers. There were a few mortgages re-corded at the courthouse, but they didn't care for that as long as they could renew from year to year. The niggers kept increasing along and every one that came was worth a hundred dollars, and that came was worth a induced dollars, and that would pay interest on the debt. But the war was like the magician's wand. It said "Presto change," and the change came. Everything was upset. The richer a man was the poorer he became, and his proud children were all the more helpless. But things are short straightened out now. But things are about straightened out now and we are moving along screenely in the new channel. The rich men's children and grand children have settled down to business, and the poor men's children have come up along Cartersville is a good, slow town, but it is sure. It has no boom and don't want any.

The good things of this life are all around us and nature is kind and we are content. We have good churches, good schools, good mer-chauts, good physicians, good water, pure air and besutiful mountain scenery—and what mere do we want. One thing I will mention mere do we want. One thing I will mention specially, as a modern phenomenon, we had but one bank and it failed just a year ago and has since resumed and paid every dollar principal and interest. Nobody lost a dellar by Will Howard, and never will, for his good old father trained his bey that way. He is honest, not only from policy, but from principle. I mention this by way of contrast with some of the banks of more pretending cities that are not far away. But you ought to see our big tabernacle that sam Jones is building for the union meetings. It is 120 feet long and 100 feet wide and two stories high, and has a bellyider on top. That is a place for the bell I reckon. Every community ought to have some such place where all the congregations could meet occasionally and leave sectarianism outside. It makes people more tolerant and brotherly; it smothers big-side, and we are all working together. Pride has had a fall, but I reckon it was all for the otry and fanaticism.

And now the talk is about war with Mexi-And how the talk is about war with Mexico. Well, we don't want any war. It will take a big thing to provoke a war now, so far as the south is concerned. Let Cutting alone severely. He made his bed and let him lie on it. We don't want a few thousand men killed in defense of one yagubond who got into trouble with malice aforathously. We have got just a had an archive. thought. We have got just as bad men on the berder as Mexico has and Cutting is one of them. When our men catch a greaser over on our side they make quick work of him and nothing is said about it. Mexico has taken a cur side they make quick work of him and nothing is said about it. Mexico has taken a good deal of land from her. She has troasures and our people covet them. We have aken a good deal of land from her. She has troasures and our people covet them. We have got people who would steal land from anybody. They tried to capture Cuba several times. They have stolen land from the Indians and have stolen about half the public lands from Uncle Sam. We want too much. Because we are a great nation we go about with a chip on the hat all the time and dare anybody to knock it off. I think that Mr. Bayard was in teo big a hurry with his demands. We want the respect of all civilized nations more than we want their fear. Let us quit calgulating the profits of a war. When I was in Texas and war seemed imminent in Europe, the cattle men were eager for the fight to come. They didn't care a cent about death and disease, and suffering and wounds, and widows and orphans, so the price of cattle went up. It sickened me to hear them talk and see them read the telegrams on the bulletin boards. They just hankered for a war. It was a pity they didn't have to fight it. I have no reepect for a man who wants a war just for his own personal advantage. Mr. Bayard thinks there is a great princip involved and no respect for a man who wants a war just for his own personal advantage. Mr. Bayard thinks there is a great principle involved, and says we can try our own citizens in our own courts. That is so, of course, but when a bad citizen goes over the line to do devilment, let him suffer the consequences. Bad men are the affiliction of this country. They keep our cours in session and our jails fail and our taxes high, and they bring grief to women and children. Bad men are a curse, and if nobody but them would be sent to war we wouldent care. What a pity that all nations could not do their fighting with their vagaboods. When our nation goes to war we must have same bigger thing than Catting to fight about. He was offered freedom, but he swells and struts and says, "My government will take care of me." Well, now, the fact is that our boys can't get up any enthusiasm over our boys can't get up any enthusiasm over Cutting. He is too hard a case. Might as well get up a fight over Tobe Jackson. Mexico has shown great consideration for our government. She offers more liberal inducements to our people to come there and settle than was ever offered by any inition. She may the leavest gentilutes to the She was the largest contributor to the New Orleans exposition, and her delegation was composed of gentlemen of education and refinement. Their speech and their manners and their exhibit surprised me and gave me a better opinion of them than I had been taught to have. If we get up a fight over Cutting or if we force Mexico to release him and beg parden, it will be because we have the news ranger and con. It will be because we have the news ranger and don, it will be because we have the power and can luildeze. We didn't buildeze old England much about the fisheries, and that was a better much about the fisheries, and that was a botter chance than Cutting's. One northern paper says that "marching through Mexico" will be as good a song as "Marching Through Georgis." Yes, and it would be about as heartless and destructive. But I reckon we won't have a war. Mr. Cleveland can't afford it. The country will not sustain it. The civilized world will condemn it. Let us have peace. I am over here at the picasant village of Westminster—a delightful airy town that seems to be away up in the land of the

sby. Westminster is only five years old, but they laid the corner stone today of an institution of learning that an older and larger town might well be proud of. They have gotten up a boom and their people are a unit. General Capers was the orator of the day and is a noble son of a noted sire. The biship s mantle of elequence and piety is upon his shoulders. These people all love him and he loves them. He is a minister of the gospel but like General Evans, took up the sword when his country called him. There was a basket picoic upon the grounds and although there was a large assemblage from the surrounding country nobody was slighted and many baskets full of fragments were left. The Atlanta Constitution was deposited in the corner stone and will be found in the ruins, if the ruins ever ceme. The crops are good up here and the people are prosperous and happy. and happy.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Bonds, Stocks and Money. CONSTITUTION OFFICE,

ATLANTA, August 14, 1886. The money market in New York has this week taken on a condition of decided closeness, and on Wednerday was manipulated up to 40 per cent bid for a loan of $10,000. The party who made this bid could have obtained about all the money United States at the price if he hadifurnished satis factory security, but he was, in all likelihood, shorton s'ocks, and adopted this little ruse to break the market to get prices down to a point where he could cover at a good profit. All this, however, does not remove the fact that money is close, and the surplus bank reserve, which was $8,000,000 a week ago, is proba-bly wiped out by this time. Active speciation in Wall street has had much to do with this state of things, but crop movement has been an important factor, too, and as long as large sums are required for the two purposes we will not see so much idle money. Rates are not all exhorbitant, time loans on good paper or safe collateral being readily ob-tained at 50% per cent and call loans at 50% per cent. Outside of the invocation and all ones. cent. Outside of the important financial centers

There are various rumors afloat concerning the movement; one being that two prominent brokers in Savannah have manipulated the rise simply for speculation, another is that General Alexander's friends are determined to get coutrol and put him at the helm again, while a third asserts that the Richmond and Dannville recopie are the buyers and will pay any price necessary to secure the nec-

A prominent holder of the stock in Savannah, writes a friend in this city that the next annual meeting of stockholders will be the most exciting and important ever held and that the stock will sell at 200 before first of January next. It is stased as a fact and we do not doubt it, that the stock has been by brokers for weeks past on New York orders and without being transferred on the books of the company, sent forward with power of attorney attached. This would indicate that the parties buying do not care to be known at present The highest price reached in years was today when when it sold at 101c and 105c is freely predicted before the end of another week. We'll see

Except in Central there has been nothing special to note. Georgia railroad is up a trifle, but it is still about the best paping guaranteed investment that can be had and the advance has no parlicular significance.

Investment bonds are extremely quiet with small offerings and light demand. New York exchange buying at par; selling at premium.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, August 13.—A conspicous feature of today's stock market was its extreme dullness day. The news received on the street was very meagre and unimportant. London is credited with again being a buyer, but the operations amounted to little. Fluctuatians were of little or no significance and final prices were only slightly different. The opening was very tame, with a slight advance in quotations. The market was uninteresting all day, closing irregular but with changes very slight either way. Sales 96,00

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement is Grain and Produce. Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, August 14-The wheat market opened up extremely buoyant this morning with sales of September at anywhere from 78%@79%c. Offerings were soon found to be unusually large, and there was a quick drop to 77%c, rallied a trile but fell back again to 77%c, and closed for the session at 77%c. Cables were less favorable to holders. Vessel room was taken for 40,000 bushels.

Corn was dull and dragging owing to an advance in lake freights, closing at a decline of 11/4c. The decline in wheat and large receipts helped the downward movement. September sold at 44%c down to 48%c, closing at 48%c. Vessel room was taken for 239,000 bushels

Oats ruled a shade easier.

Provisions were weak and lower. Trading in pork was fair, but in other articles was light. The weakness in corn was the chief cause of free selling of pork, and broke 12%@?2%c.]
Lard was slow. September closed at 7.20. Compared with yesterday there was 20@22%c decline in pork, 2%@10e in lard and 10e in short ribs.

An evening of rare enjoyment was succepted by all who attended, and their anticipations were more than realized. The party assembled at Mrs. L. P. James on Prove street, and were carried thence to Mr. Lynch's country residence, which is just eight suites from the city, in two wagonettes, and a large wagon, each of which was drawn by four horses. The ride each way was delightful. As the party emerged from the city, and the crowded house, and narrow streets, gave way to broad leds and beautiful forests, matures own villages, the pure fresh air fanned their cheeks, while Dame Luns in all her beauty smiled on approvingly. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch entertained royally, placing their entire house and grounds at the disposal of their guests, and serving in abundance the most delicus melons and fruits. IMPORTANT LETTER FROM MARION HARLAND.

Her Granddaughter Restored by the Use of Carnrick's Soluble Food.

Carnrick's Soluble Food.

Messrs. Reed & Carnick, Mercantile Exchange Building. New York:

DEAR SIRS: My little granddaughter was seriously ill when but a week old, and remained so feeble for a fortnight that she could not draw the mother's milk. Then began a trial of "substitutes," the recollection of which is distressing. Milk and water induced colle; peptonized milk constipation that became obstinate; more than one celebrated "artificial food" was used, with similar and worse results. She was three monthsold, a fragile sufferer who required continual care, when Doctor Wood suggested "Carnrick's Soluble Food," and gave me the analysis of the preparation. She has now been fed on this for five weeks. It agrees with her perfectly, and has regulated bowels as well as stomach.

She is a plump, menty and well baby, so unlike Menree.

Mis Lois Jones, of Cartersville, is visiting the family of Mr. R. L. Williams.

Thursday evening there were two social attractions, a moonlight ride down the Coosa on the steamer John J. Sear, and a lawn party at the residence of Mr. E. C. Hough. Both were well attended, and both proved to be very enjoyable.

Misses Clelle and Pearl McWilliams are visiting relatives in Albama.

sch. She is a plump, merry and well baby, so unlike the pain-racked morsel of humanity of a month ago that I am, in sheer justice, constrained to subscribe myself gratefully yours.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Less of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regard stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

THE COMBAULT'S Is undoubtedly the most valuable and reliable Veterinary Remedy ever discovered. It has superseded the Actual Cautery or hot iron; produces more than four times the effect of a blister; takes the place of all liniments, and is the safest application ever used, as it is impossible to produce a scar or blemish with it. It is a powerful, active, reliable and safe remedy that can be manipulated at will for severe or mild effect. Thousands of the best Veterinarians and Horsemen of this country testify to its many wonderful cures and its great practi-cal value. It is also the most economical remedy in use, as one tablespoonful of Caustic Balsam will produce more actual results than a whole bottle of any liniment or spavin cure mixture ever made. IT IS HOT

UT we presume you know it, though it does no particular harm to remind you of it. The caloric has spread itself during the past week; it has been hot everywhere. "Hot" is not a very refined way of putting it, but we do it in making a wide distinction between that word and "warm." But if the weather be disagreeable, what has been the condition of thlngs among our competitors? We have made it uncomfortably warm for them rest assured. They have meen made to seek for cool and shady places. They have found it blistering hot trying so outdo us in selling geods at low figures. Once again we bow our thanks for the most liberal patronage accorded us Honest methods have won for us a superb victory. The public trust we hold is still faithfully guarded, and we simply rest on our oars and cry, "Selah!"

D. H DOUGHERTY & CO.

IN WARM WEATHER it is well to look out for "squalls." They are liable to come in any shape and this week we have a genuine CYCLONE prepared especially for serving to our competitors. You may expect to see the "fur fly" and to hear the blinds rattle, and maybe you will hear something "drop." Here are our whirlwind, tornado, simoon, storm-centre prices, for this week: 10c. for figured Lawns in beautiful patterns and superb quality never offered by us before for less than 15,20 and 25c; the lot is assorted qualities. This is a specimen of our August Cut Rate Sales on Summer Coods.

1.2c. for beautifully figured Lawns formerly sold for 5 and 6 1/4c. These are no common stuff such as [has been selling all the summer at 12 1-20.

25c. for a splendid corset in all sizes, beautifully embroidered with silk. These goods are made to sell at 50c,, and are cheap for 50c.

The Shirt Boom.

Continued—Just think of a good quality Unlandried Shirt for 25c, 50c and 75c. These are challenge numbers with us, and can't be equaled in the market for 20 per cent, more money, but when we mention Dougherty's best unlaundried for $1, we mean that no house in the South will sell as good a shirt at the price, and the United States can't beat its fit.

75c and $1-At these two prices we guarrantee to show as good a Laundried Shirt as you can buy in Atlanta for $1 and

Don't forget to ask to see our 25c unlaundried shirts Others may talk of their shirt trade but we guarantee to sel more Shirts at retail than any two houses in Georgia, and of course low prices has something to do in the case.

Overalls 25 Cents!

25c., for a pair of overals made of superb quality material; the stock in them is worth at least 4 2c., to say nothing about making them. When we can buy goods and sell at these prices you know we are bound to do a big trade.

Dress Goods

5c., a yard for a beautiful dress plaid gingham; we sold the identical quality of goods all the past season for 10 and 12C; the goods and styles are here and if you miss this opportunity it is not likely that you will ever see such a bargain again in ginghams. Some other big drives will be offered in this department.

Corsets,

50c, 75c, $1,00 and $1.25-At these prices our corsets are grand Values, we have all of the better makes of corsets and we are so flattered by our immense trade in this department that we are determined to continue to undersell in these goods.

Table Linens.

We have a big lot of remnants in bleached damask, 3 to 4 yards each; most of them are best quality of goods. They have been thrown rside on account of being slightly soiled, but the goods are first-class, all linen and are worth twice what we are going to sell them for. You will also find among this lot of remnants some half-bleached and Turkey-red damask put in in same way. House-keepers don't miss this opportunity. 25c.—We have about a half, case of those superb 58-inch bleached damask left at 25c., a yard; they beat the linen maker.

Black Cashmere.

We advertised in last weeks' issue a big shipment of these goods bought early on account of low prices, and stated our intention of close them at once and made prices on these goods so fearfully under any former sales that we felt confident that they would move, and the crowds that thronged these counters last week was sufficient evidence of this appreciation. We want you to come and examine these goods, and to test the validity of our assertions.

Hosiery. Gloves and Laces.

Big drives in Hosiery, Gloves and Laces. 1 New Rushings and Embroideries.

White Goods.

Big drives here!

5c., for beautiful Victoria Lawn.

8 1-2c., a grand good Victoria Lawn, house. Summer Goods must bid adieu to us; blazing bargains will strike you will be and 12 cents—At these prices you electric force from every department.

can't match our Victoria Lawns.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes!

Our new Fall Shoes are being opened every day, and all Summer Shoes must sell.

Now is the time to buy cheap Slippers, Newport Ties and all Summer weight Shoes cheap. In fact, you can buy a high cut the whole town, that's all.
